HURRICANE SLAMS TEXAS COAST

Trapped Miners Are Rescued by Giant Auger

BLOOMINGDALE, Ohio (UP) — Five coal miners entombed for 14 hours by a cave-in were rescued Wednesday night through a shaft bored by a tremendous mine-digging machine.

It was believed the first time the machine, a giant auger developed to make coal mining more economical, ever was used in a rescue attempt.

The bit of the auger, 3-feet thick, and capable of boring 120 feet an hour, pierced 240 feet into the side of a Powhatan Coal Co. strip mine near here and hit "dead center" in a low chamber where the miners were trapped.

The augur was the only one in use in the area, a district of rural villages and mining fields 40 miles west of Pittsburgh and 7 miles from the steel town of Steubenville, Ohio.

The men crawled to safety through the hole, the third bored by the auger in the rescue effort, at 10:50 p.m. e.d.t. They had been trapped since 9 a.m. e.d.t. in a space 40 feet long, 4½-feet high and 9 to 16 feet in width.

Many at Scene

About 200 persons, including wives and children of the trapped miners, rescue workers and two priests, shouted joyously at sight of the rescued men.

"We never gave up hope, we knew that machine would get to us," said Kenneth Hamilton, 38, the first man out of the mine.

Behind him came Joseph Supinski, 29, Martin Kovalski, 40, Henry Horvath, 38, and Fred Sable, 38.

Sable's wife, Jewell, nearly collapsed when she saw her husband.

"Thank God you're alive," she said as she embraced him.

The men were examined by a physician at the scene, given sedatives and allowed to go home.

'Could Hear Drilling'

Hamilton said the trapped men "could hear the drilling since the auger first went to work" in the late afternoon. Hand-digging and the use of a continuous mining machine was discarded when one of two shafts that fed air to the men collapsed.

"We probably still would be underground if it weren't for the auger," Hamilton said. "We owe a great vote of thanks to the men on the auger drill and the engineers who designed it. They sure did a good job."

When the auger had bored through about 220 feet on the third try, it stopped smashing black coal and began drawing shale, indicating to the rescuers the machine had broken through to the chamber.

Hamilton said the trapped men "heard the boring and scrambled out of the way."

"We saw that set-up that drill and knew what he was doing," Hamilton said. "He hit the chamber dead center."

The operators of the auger first tried to bore a hole parallel to the 327-foot long mine tunnel in which the cave-in occurred. This was soon abandoned and another hole was started at a 45-degree angle to the tunnel.

When the hole was 180 feet long, the auger pulled back the 21-foot boring sections and state Mines

Pinball Owners Summoned to Hearing July 8

Fayette County Judge Eustace H. Bane yesterday ordered the owners of 41 confiscated pinball machines to show cause why the machines should not be destroyed as gambling devices.

The machines were seized in simultaneous raids last week in Uniontown, Brownsville and Connellsville.

Frank P. Lawley, Jr., a deputy state attorney general, petitioned the court for an order to destroy the machines, stating:

"All the devices are unlawful gaming devices and were confiscated while they were in the process of being used in violation of gaming laws in the Commonwealth."

Judge Bane set July 8 as the date for the hearing on the petition.

A count of the contents of the 41 machines showed a total take of $1,735.

Woman Hurt In Three-car Accident Here

One person was hospitalized following a three-car accident near Seventh St. and Donner Ave. about 10:15 last night, Monessen police reported today.

Taken to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital for examination for possible injuries was Mrs. Jerry Alonso, a passenger in the car driven by her husband, of 436 Kenneth Ave., Donora.

The other drivers involved were Julia Alatsis, of 627 South 14th St., Monessen, and Ray Evans, of Monessen Highway.

In another accident last night, a car operated by Wilson Bevan, of 1164 Dennis Ave., Monessen, struck a machine driven by Jane M. Williams, of 1460 Graham Ave., monessen.

Police reports said Bevan was attempting to pass the Williams vehicle between Fifth and Sixth streets on Donner Ave. when the mishap occurred.

Fayette Youth Admits Armed Robbery Monday

A 15-year-old Fayette County youth yesterday admitted the armed robbery of the Chuck Wagon Restaurant near Brownsville early Monday morning, State Police at Belle Vernon revealed today.

The restaurant, located on Rt. 40 near West Brownsville, Centerville Borough, was held up about 5 a. m. Monday by a Negro then described at "18 or 19 years old."

The culprit, armed with a "long barreled pistol," accosted a janitor and two waitresses after apparently waiting for customers in the all-night diner to leave. He fleeced the restaurant cash register of an estimated $150 and fled.

The youth has been turned over to juvenile authorities.

Arrested were Wayne Boyd, 26, of Eldora; Gerald Sellman, 30, and John Ritchie, 24, both of Donora.

Boyd and Ritchie each posted $25 forfeits. Sellman's forfeit was $10.

They are scheduled for a hearing in police court tomorrow night.

Couple Charged With Bootlegging Business in Ohio

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (UP) — A Cleveland couple was arraigned before a U.S. commissioner here today on charges of operating a "productive and profitable" bootlegging business.

Federal agents arrested Lloyd M. Park, 44, and his wife Helen, 37, when they found them operating a 300-gallon still on a farm three miles north of Jefferson in Ashtabula County.

Believed to have been in operation about three months, the still was one of the largest ever found in this area. It produced $1,200 worth of moonshine a week, according to the raiders. The illegal whisky was sold in the Cleveland area for $10 a gallon.

The house had been under surveillance for two weeks by agents of the U.S. Bureau of Internal Revenue, the state Liquor Department and Ashtabula County deputies. The raiders confiscated 900 gallons of mash, 30 gallons of moonshine and 40 cases of half gallon jars.

Award Contract For Gillespie Water Service

The Washington Twp. Water Authority today announced that work will start in two weeks on installation of a 10-inch water main from Fayette City to Gillespie.

The contract for the $124,000 job has been awarded to Frank Kukurian Sons, Inc., of McKeesport. The work is expected to be completed within 90 days.

The new water line will serve more than 100 families in the Gillespie area.

The Authority purchased both the Fayette City Water Co. and the Citizens Water Co. of Roscoe last March. At that time the Authority transferred $975,000 in money and bonds for the purchase of the companies.

Lions Club to Present Giant Show, Fireworks

One of the biggest fireworks displays in the history of Monessen will touch off the city's 1957 observance of Independence Day.

Sponsored by the Monessen Lions Club, the fireworks will be staged at Memorial Stadium next Wednesday evening, July 3.

And that will be only part of the show!

The holiday promotion will begin at 8 p. m. with a two-hour variety performance.

A 15-piece orchestra has been donated by the Monongahela Valley local of the musicians union, according to a Lions Club spokesman.

At the moment, the Lions are busy preparing other acts. Dan (Boots) Salotti and Bob Mandelino, stars of the annual Lions minstrel shows, will be on hand to clown for the youngsters.

The fireworks will begin at 10 p. m.

There will be no admission charge. However the Lions ask that all youngsters be accompanied by their parents.

Joseph Shoemaker is general chairman of the affair. His co-chairmen are Bernard Massa and Anthony Todaro.

The Lions anticipate a crowd of more than 10,000 persons. Later this week an airplane will drop leaflets throughout the valley advertising the show.

A Lions Club spokesman said the fireworks display, alone, will cost more than $1,000.

"This show will provide everyone in the district with an opportunity to celebrate a safe and sane Independence Day," said the Lions spokesman.

Defense Department Over-emphasizes Air Power—Nickerson

HUNTSVILLE, Ala (UP) — Col. John C. Nickerson Jr. testified today that "gross" over-emphasis on air power exists in the Defense Department.

Reliance on air power alone, the Army missiles officer testified at his court martial, might lay the United States open to "total defeat" if Soviet armies overran most of the free world.

Nickerson was testifying in his own defense in an effort to mitigate his sentence for admitted negligent handling of secret documents and sending classified memos to various outside persons.

But Nickerson almost immediately launched a blistering attack on the air power philosophy of defense which he said has been "glamorized and publicized" by every member of the Air Force.

Inter-service Fight

Nickerson himself had opened a bitter inter-service fight over control of ballistic missiles when he protested Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson's decision to turn such weapons in the intermediate range to the Air Force.

Nickerson, champion of the Army's Jupiter intermediate missile which he helped develop, admitted he used secret data to get across his case. He awaits sentencing on 15 counts, a sentence to be determined by the 10-member court martial after the defense completes its testimony.

Julian Robertson, retired colonel who is president of Erlanger Textile Mills and two other firms in North Carolina, testified earlier as to Nickerson's combat aggressiveness when both served in the 8th Infantry Division in France.

"He was known as a pretty hot firing officer and could not understand why his battalion could not have more rounds," said Robertson, who was an ordnance officer with the outfit. "He would take me up to forward positions and point out targets that he ought to be allowed to hit."

On Witness Stand

Special defense counsel Ray H. Jenkins had promised Nickerson himself would be the day's second witness in effort to mitigate his sentence for admitted negligence with secret material.

After Nickerson, 10 more defense witnesses were slated. Jenkins said none would stay on the stand long and predicted Nickerson's sentence would come next Monday.

Nickerson began the third day of his trial confident he would come out well, although he had pleaded guilty to 15 specifications of failing to safeguard military secrets.

He was buoyed by the testimony of Dr. Wernher von Braun, who developed the German V2 rocket Von Braun came to the United II and now is a naturalized citi- States at the end of World War zen.

Von Braun testified for an hour and 20 minutes in open court and for an hour and 45 minutes behind closed doors in an effort to mitigate the 41-year-old Nickerson's admitted guilt.

Fear for the nation's security rather than neglect of it motivated Nickerson when he let secret data creep into communications to "unauthorized persons" protesting the Pentagon curb on Army missile work last year, Von Braun said.

Couple Arrested; Husband Injured

A husband and wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Drusick, of 1219 Morgan Ave., were arrested on disorderly conduct charges following an altercation near 12th St. and Schoonmaker Ave. yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, local police reported today.

Woodside Says Justice Scales Out of Balance

BEDFORD, Pa. (UP)—Superior Court Judge Robert E. Woodside said Wednesday the scales of justice appear out of balance.

He said this leaves a "vast area where the law-abiding citizen and his government have no effective protection against the murderer, robber, racketeer and the subversive."

In his opinion, Woodside told the summer meeting of the Pennsylvania Bar Association, there "has been a tendency recently to permit the scales to favor the accused."

He said that as an appellate judge he recognized the "necessity of protecting the accused against the violation of his constitutional rights by government officials."

"I recognize too that free government can exist only so long as appellate courts can and do require the protection of the rights of the accused," he said. "But I also recognize that the property and person of our citizens must be kept relatively free from criminal attack and that our government must be protected against subversives."

The association closed its summer meeting this morning.

Only 374 State School Districts Object to Vote

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Labor and Industry Department announced today that only 374 Pennsylvania school districts filed objections to the referendum to be held to decide how many school employes choose to integrate state retirement benefits with federal Social Security.

The number fell far short of the 40 per cent of the state's 2,440 school districts which would have had to object to the proposed referendum to knock it out.

"Since less than 40 per cent of the school districts have submitted objections, the secret ballot referendum on Social Security integration will be held in all Pennsylvania school districts on August 26, 27 and 28," department secretary William L. Batt said.

Only those members of the School Employes' Retirement System who indicated a preference for merger of the federal and state systems will vote on it. Those who failed to show a preference by the special forms supplied them will not be covered by the integrated system.

Allenport and Elco school districts are the only to object in the Monessen area.

Superior Court In Meetings in Bedford County

BEDFORD, Pa. (UP) —The state Superior Court sat here Wednesday—the first time an appellate court has convened in Bedford County since 1855.

Five of the seven judges—Chester E. Rhodes, J. Colvin Wright, Robert E. Woodside, Blair F. Gunther and Harold L. Ervin—attended.

President Judge Rhodes said it was only the second time since he joined the court in 1935 that it has held a session in an area not designated by rules of the court.

The session was held in connection with the summer meeting of the Pennsylvania Bar Assn. at Bedford Springs Hotel.

The Court heard arguments on two supersedeas actions, one involving the abandonment of a trolley route in Philadelphia and the other concerning a Public Utility Commission ruling dealing with a public carrier route between Punxsutawney and Pittsburgh.

Leader Leaves Door Open for Senate Race

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader has ruled himself out as presidential timber in 1956 but left the door open for a run for the U.S. Senate next year.

The governor relayed a brief statement from Williamsburg, Va. where he is attending the Governors' Conference in reply to published reports from the meeting indicating he might be available for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"I have not been, I am not now, and I do not plan to be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960," he said. "I have not yet decided whether to run for the Senate in 1958.

'I hope this clarifies any misunderstanding or misinterpretation."

Republican legislative leaders contended during the 1957 session that Leader's hat was already in the Senate ring, with his legislative program as a backdrop. They subsequently chopped about 70 million dollars from his budget requests.

Storm Signals Up at Disarmament Parley

LONDON (UP)—Reports that President Eisenhower might be having second thoughts on the wisdom of an immediate ban on nuclear tests sent up storm signals today at the London disarmament conference.

Harold E. Stassen was keeping the emphasis on conventional disarmament at today's session, but he was expected to put forth the American nuclear position soon.

Western delegates here received another firm warning Wednesday from Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin that any first step disarmament agreement must include a ban on tests.

Observers interpreted Eisenhower's latest declaration on the subject as an indication of a retreat from previous apparent willingness to meet the Russians on the issue.

Last week the President said he would be "perfectly delighted" to accept an immediate ban. Wednesday he appeared far less ready and emphasized instead the possibility of an "absolutely clean" H-bomb, that is, with no radioactive fall-out.

Stassen and his fellow Western delegates received a stern warning from the Russians about the Soviet determination to halt tests.

According to a Moscow radio broadcast this morning Zorin told the delegates that "those who complicate the settlement of the question of ending atom and hydrogen weapon tests by various contrived conditions are, in effect, raising obstacles to and undermining the possibility of ending the nuclear arms race."

The Zorin statement was accompanied by another venomous Soviet attack on U.S. Gen. Lauris Norstad, the NATO commander, which outdid the Tuesday statements by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

Moscow radio said Norstad was dreaming "how to drop thousands a "cannibal" who spends his time of bombs on our country." It recalled that he was chief of staff of the World War II 20th Air Force which bombed Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

Death Toll at 10 Before It Reaches Shore

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (UP) — Hurricane Audrey, which killed 10 persons before it ever touched land, smashed into the Texas-Louisiana coast today. Its highest winds were estimated at more than 100 miles an hour.

It isolated whole towns with mountainous tides and crashing waves and knocked out electrical power in Beaumont and Port Arthur, two of the Texas coast's largest cities.

The hurricane's center, according to the Port Arthur Weather Bureau, hit the Louisiana coast around Cameron shortly after 8 a.m. c.s.t. But hurricane-strength winds were reported as far west as Galveston, Tex., at least 140 miles down the coast from Cameron.

As Audrey raged toward shore, it hurled a two-masted fishing vessel, the Keturah, into an oil rig near Galveston. The Keturah went down with all nine crewmen on board. Another man was drowned Wednesday night off the Texas coast.

Many Flee City

Deputy Sheriff L. D. Farrow at Port Arthur estimated that 50,000 persons either fled the city or took refuge in schools, churches and steel-framed buildings.

The worst part of the storm appeared to be passing east of the rich manufacturing triangle of Beaumont-Port Arthur-Orange on the southeast Texas coast.

Maximum winds reported in Port Arthur were 72 miles an hour. At Galveston, the wind reached a velocity of 78 miles an hour. Waves were crashing over the seawall there and white caps were smacking against hotels.

Galveston is a resort city, southwest of the Beaumont-Port Arthur sector, where the worst hurricane on record killed 5,000-8,000 persons in September, 1900.

The Weather Bureau at Port Arthur said the wind would begin subsiding soon.

In Louisiana, the first emergency turned up at Cameron, 30 miles south of Lake Charles and about the same distance east of Sabine. It is in the southwestern corner of Louisiana. The town was isolated.

There was little hope that any of the crewmen of the two-masted fishing vessel Keturah, including Capt. Sam Kinsley of Pensacola, Fla., could have stayed afloat in the thrashing seas.

The Coast Guard cutter Cahone, which had been towing the doomed Keturah, called off the search at 12:23 a.m. c.s.t., and took off in a southerly course in an effort to survive Hurricane Audrey, first storm of the season.

Another Death Listed

Audrey already had claimed one life before leashing its fury on the Keturah and moving toward the south Louisiana coast.

The Keturah struck the oil rig and sank rapidly after the towline broke 11 miles out of Galveston. It had lost power and sent out a distress signal, to which the Cahoone responded, about 70 miles from Galveston.

After the Keturah hit the rig

Escaped Inmate Back in Custody; Patrolman Alert

PITTSBURGH (UP)— Gilbert Waters, 22, Western Penitentiary inmate who escaped from deputy sheriffs who had taken him to an uncles funeral June 8, was back in custody today as the result of the alertness of a Homestead patrolman.

Officer George Shields spotted the fugitive sitting with a girl in a park Friday night and after summoning another patrolman attempted to nab Waters. The convict fled when he spotted the policemen.

After a block-and-a-half footrace, during which one officer fired a warning shot, the patrolmen caught the fleeing man. The girl escaped during the chase.

Waters was taken to the sheriff's office and questioned and then lodged in Allegheny County jail. Chief Deputy Robert E. Harrison said that since his escape Waters had been "hiding in doorways and sleeping in parks" in Homestead and Pittsburgh.

On the day of his escape, Waters was taken from the penitentiary to a funeral home. The prisoner asked to have the handcuffs removed while he talked with his mother. When his hands were freed, he slipped into an alcove and fled through a side door.

State Treasurer Says Bookkeeping Saved Thousands

HARRISBURG (UP) — State Treasurer Robert F. Kent announced today the Commonwealth saved thousands of dollars in a "bookkeeping transaction" in which 65 million dollars was loaned from the Motor License Fund to bolster the General Fund.

Kent said the 65 million dollars was repaid Wednesday in a "money from one pocket into another" transfer. The money was loaned last February to meet school subsidy payments.

The treasurer said the transaction saved the state "interest payments and fees that would have run well into five figures if we had to borrow the money from private sources."

Kent also reported General Fund and Motor License Fund receipts for May were "greatly in excess of disbursements" for the period resulting in an increase of approximately 121 million dollars in investments during the month.

Kent said the increase, now in U.S. government bills, was shown despite the payment of 30 million dollars into the Tax Anticipation Notes Special Sinking Fund Account.

He said the investment should realize an income of eight million dollars annually to the state.

Turnpike Hires Executive Director to Run Highway

Action Is Taken To Save Money, Commission Says

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission today announced it has authorized an executive director at an annual $25 000 salary to direct the superhighway's operations

Dr. Merritt A. Williamson, acting commission chairman, said the action was taken as an economy measure. He said the hiring of an executive director was recommended over a year ago by a firm of management consultants engaged by the commission and had been under "serious consideration" for some time.

Williamson also said it was "unfortunate" that the Republican-controlled Legislature rejected Gov. George M. Leader's proposal for a non-salaried board to replace the present commission. He said that would have effected "even greater economies"

The commission chairman receives an annual $15.000 salary and the four commissioners receive $13.000 each annually.

Williamson said the employment of an executive director would be "but one of the many actions" being taken to increase operational effectiveness of the commission. He said "the efficient operation of a business grossing about 30 million dollars annually and comprising approximately 1.400 employes requires management skill of the highest order...Persons possessing these skills could hardly be induced to devote full time to the turnpike business as commissioners at the salaries paid."

Fire Insurance Rates Rejected By State Dept.

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Insurance Department has rejected new fire insurance rates proposed by 357 companies in Pennsylvania on the grounds they were excessive and discriminatory.

Although in some sections of the state outside Philadelphia and Allegheny counties there would have been some drop in rates, the overall effect statewide would have been a $8.864,285 increase in premiums over a five year period.

In Philadelphia fire insurance costs on homes, apartment houses, mercantile buildings and stocks and household furnishings would have been boosted $9.223.132—a 25 per cent increase over a five year period. Over the same period Allegheny County rates on combination stores and dwellings and mercantile buildings would have been upped 15 per cent or about $726,-570.

State Insurance Commissioner Francis R. Smith said that not only had the Middle Department Association of Fire Underwriters, which filed the proposed new rates, failed to prove the new rates fair but had not supported them by 'credible statistical data."

New Kensington Gets Fluoridated Water

The New Kensington Water Authority yesterday received permission to add fluorides to the city's drinking water.

Permission came in the form of a letter from the State Dept. of Health.

The authority decided to fluoridate the city's water supply early this year after a bitterly-waged pro and con battle between anti-fluoridationists and proponents of the measure.

Manager Stephen H. Davis welcomed the news and looked enthusiastically forward to the start of the fluoridation program.

Davis explained that the equipment necessary for putting fluorides into city drinking water has not as yet been received at the water works in Valley Camp.

Listed for October

Davis, however, did say that he expects the machinery to be installed by the time open house is held at the water works in October. The entire Valley Camp plant is undergoing a face-lifting at the present time.

Fluoridation was a topic of discussion at many meetings of service and fraternal organizations before any action was taken by the water authority.

Parent-Teacher units favored placing fluorides in the drinking water.

School and city officials also discussed the issue.

Opposition Appeared

And there was opposition from some quarters. Various reasons for opposing the action was listed.

During that time, the Water Authority awaited the decision of the majority.

After it was clearly indicated that majority of the residents wished to have fluorides placed in drinking water, the Water Authority purchased the equipment.

Residents in New Kensington, Arnold, Lower Burrell and Plum Twp. are included in the list of water consumers.

Addition of fluorides to the water, proponents pointed out, will help prevent caries from forming in children's teeth.

Miners

Rescue Supt. Joseph Chadwick and four other rescue workers crawled through the narrow passageway.

One of the rescue workers tapped on the mine wall five times with a hammer and "heard five answering taps." He tapped three more times and three taps were heard in return.

That was at 7.42 p.m. 11 hours after the cave-in. It was the first contact established with the trapped men.

Chadwick said the second hole was off course and the auger was set at another angle and put to work on a new hole.

"When they pulled back on the second try," Hamilton said, "we figured they were only about 20 feet or so away from us"

Hamilton said the trapped men had 'plenty of air and light from our battery lamps"

All Available Bits Used

The auger used up all available bits on the third try and there was a short delay until additional bits were brought in.

Chadwick, who has been with the Ohio Division of Mines for 16 years, said "to my knowledge this is the first time the giant auger has ever been used in a rescue attempt in this nation. It proved very successful."

The giant auger was developed only a few years ago and relatively few are in use. The one used in the rescue attempt here is the only one in eastern Ohio.

The diesel - powered machine stands on a track and is about 20 feet high and 14 feet wide. A crane attaches a 21-foot spiraled steel boring section with a 3½ bit to the auger and the machine drills the section into the side of the hill.

Trapped Miner Tells Of His Experience

By KENNETH HAMILTON
(As Told To United Press)

BLOOMINGDALE, Ohio (UP)—I started work at 7 a.m. We had been working a couple hours when we heard the rock falling. We ran to the next chamber to look but it was falling so fast we knew we couldn't have a chance to make it to the mine entrance.

We set a few posts where we were working and wedged them for our protection. After a while we discovered we had no air flow and we decided to go back to the face of the mine We all stayed together. Nobody got excited or panicky.

The rock kept falling for two hours, working back toward us. It was just as we were about to give up and go back to the face of the mine that the rock stopped falling.

We decided for everybody to sit down and keep still to conserve our oxygen. When the rock stopped falling it was a very great relief

We all prayed Just before the falling stopped I had a premonition I felt my prayer was answered I can't explain it but I began feeling better. We all did. Even then we sat around and joked. We decided it would be good if we all slept for short intervals

Our battery lamps are good for eight hours and we only burned one light at a time I had a gallon thermos jug of water and Joe Supinski had a half-gallon jug We had no food We figured with drinking water we could last a good while.

DOLL FROM MONACO PRINCESS — Five-month-old Geradine Gail Esterday looks happy in Chicago with her doll, a gift signed "The Princess of Monaco." Geradine was born Jan. 23, same day as Princess Grace's baby Caroline. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Esterday, wrote to Prince Rainier and Princess Grace, saying they had seen news photos of Caroline and all those wonderful gifts she received, and wouldn't Caroline be able to spare a doll for Geradine?

WQED Seeks Channel For Added Programs

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Officials of educational television station WQED today filed an application with the Federal Communications Commission for an additional channel to enable it to expand its classroom instruction program.

Station President John T. Ryan Jr., said WQED, which now operates on VHF Channel 13, seeks the right to also use UHF Channel 47. The FCC already has assigned the channel to Pittsburgh, but it has never been operative.

"If permission is granted, it is our plan to program classroom instruction on both channels 13 and 47 throughout the day," Ryan said.

Granting of the additional channel, he said, would overcome the station's handicap of being limited to one class at a time. He said closed circuit operation had been considered, but that the tremendous expense of installation and operation made it impractical.

WQED Manager John F. White said operation of the UHF channel would cost about $40,000 a year and installation $149,500 if all new equipment was purchased. He pointed out secondhand equipment is available.

Acquisition of the additional channel, Ryan said, also would enable the station to provide specialized educational service for industry and professions of the area, such as foreman training classes and clinics for doctors.

"These are typical of the special services we could perform with Channel 47—services which are badly needed but are not appropriate for programming on our present Channel 13," Ryan said.

GOP in Warning Against 'Bunk' From Democrats

HARRISBURG (UP)—A Republican legislative leader has warned Pennsylvania's voters to guard themselves against "a continuing campaign" by the administration to discredit the work of the GOP-controlled Legislature that adjourned last week.

House Majority Leader Albert W. Johnson (McKean) said, "in view of Gov. George M Leader's bid for the U.S. Senate, people should be careful what they swallow." He advised "the best antidote for political bunk is sull the old fashioned grain of salt."

Johnson said a recent speech by Genevieve Blatt, state internal affairs secretary, was "typical" of the "false information" being broadcast by the administration. He said Miss Blatt told the Pennsylvania Association of Boroughs her department's share of the Republican drafted appropriations bill would force a cutback in services to local government.

"The secretary apparently was not aware that she received more money this session than during the 1955-57 biennium—and much greater than was allocated to the Republican administrauon of 1953-55," Johnson said.

The department received $1-900,814, a $5,740 increase over the previous two year period The agency had requested $2,600,000 for the period

Statewide Audit Is Planned for Building Industry

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Revenue Department will begin a statewide audit of construction industry and building operations in a move to bring in an additional three to five million dollars from the 3 per cent sales tax.

Revenue Secretary Gerald A. Gleeson said the department's Sales and Use Tax Bureau was assigning auditors and investigators to track down unpaid taxes during the next two years.

Gleeson said preliminary inquiries revealed that "substantial" tax sums have not been paid, either through lack of understanding of the tax law or deliberate intent to avoid payment. He said a "frequent area of misunderstanding" was that building construction materials and fixtures from out of state are liable under the sales tax.

"Not only is this a matter of tax, but also common fairness, since Pennsylvania suppliers who collect the 3 per cent tax are placed in an unfair competitive position with out-of-state firms who do not charge for it," Gleeson said.

Authority Powers Are Revised

Affects Water in The Area

HARRISBURG (UP) — Last minute revisions required by the state Justice Department modified the wide powers which would be granted water authorities for a proposed 250 million dollar reservoir system in southwestern Pennsylvania.

The water system, if built, would serve industries in six counties according to one of its co-sponsors, Sen. John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland). Plans call for the system, supplying Somerset, Fayette, Westmoreland, Allegheny, Washington and Greene counties, to be built by the American Waterworks Co., headed by John Ware, of Philadelphia, Dent said.

The enabling legislation had been adopted and sent to Gov. George M. Leader's desk May 2 but was recalled at the request of the Justice Department for revisions

New Amendments

New amendments then removed a provision making it mandatory for the Highways Department to relocate existing state roads on property which the water authority planned to flood in connection with construction of the system.

Another change further limited the authority's "eminent domain" powers to take over and condemn land necessary for the project. Originally the only prohibition was against usurping federal or state property. To this restriction was added property of any municipality, any other authority or public service company, church or cemetery.

However, the property could be appropriated if the Common Pleas Court in the district where it is located approved.

A third change reportedly was made at the insistence of Somerset County authorities. The original measure authorized the operating agency to file equity suits to compel mine owners to stop seepage into any stream which might be impounded for water storage purposes. The final version would permit such action only against owners of "abandoned wells."

The bill is one of about 400 upon which Gov. George M. Leader must act by July 20.

Billy Graham Claims Crowds Exceed Circus

NEW YORK (UP)—Billy Graham said Wednesday night that his crusade to save New York had outlasted and outdrawn any other attraction in the 30-year history of Madison Square Garden.

The evangelist said that the Ringling Bros. Barnum and Bailey Circus had run 40 days in the Garden, but his crusade had already lasted 43 days, and still has until July 20 to go.

More than 739,000 persons have flocked to hear Graham's fiery sermons in the huge sports arena. Except for a week - long slump attributed to a heatwave, the Garden has been filled to near capacity and beyond most nights.

John Goldner, a Garden official, told the United Press, however, that the New York crusade record may be a little short of the circus's, for the circus usually presents two performances a day, or 80 in all.

Goldner explained that the Garden seats 15,000 when the circus is there, 18,500 for the New York Crusade. Some circus performances have drawn as few as 3,000 customers, he said, but the majority have sold out.

He said he would have to make an exhaustive check of his records to determine whether the circus had outdrawn Graham, or vice versa.

"It's probably just about a toss-up," Goldner said.

Historical Site Admission Prices To Be Increased

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission will increase admissions at three state historical sites and impose charges for the first time at four others beginning July 1.

Commission Chairman Frank W. Melvin said the action was taken to compensate for reductions made in budget requests by the Republican-controlled 1957 Legislature.

Admissions will be doubled to 50 cents at Ephrata Cloister, Ephrata, Daniel Boone Homestead near Reading; Pennsbury Manor near Morrisville and the state Farm Museum of Landis Valley, Lancaster. A 25 cent charge will be started at Fort Augusta, Sunbury; Conrad Weiser Park, Womelsdorf, and Cornwall Furnace, Cornwall. Fifty cents will be charged at Drake Well, Titusville.

Melvin said the admission fees will be channeled into a fund for improvements and maintenance of the shrines and the addition of other historical sites.

Red China Is Facing Very Serious Internal Political Problems

(The following dispatch by the London chief diplomatic correspondent of United Press is based on authoritative, high-level diplomatic information from inside Red China. It sheds new light on Peiping's campaign of "rectification" and the current session of the "national peoples congress" in Peiping.)

By K. C. THALER

LONDON (UP) — Communist China faces very serious internal troubles over a wide field of its political and economic life.

The Red regime's difficulties are more deep-rooted and widespread than so far it has allowed to be known, and criticism of the government has come from nearly every quarter of the country's 600 million population.

But these difficulties are not likely to threaten the foundations of the Communist regime or topple the government of Mao Tze-tung.

The developments are not likely to affect Soviet-Chinese relations "for the time being" although they may eventually bring the European satellites closer to Peiping.

These are the conclusions reached in a high level on-the-spot assessment of the latest developments inside Communist China which were spotlighted by the recent release of a 15,000-word policy statement from Mao.

Position of Strength

The assessment holds that Mao's forthright policy review was made from a position of strength of the regime rather than from its weakness.

Even the Chinese criticism is just that and not a fighting opposition.

Mao is believed to have taken a calculated risk in allowing the Chinese people to let off steam by raising their complaints openly under the campaign of "rectification" or correction of past Communist mistakes.

Mao still has the power to clamp down harshly if opposition were to get out of hand and to threaten the foundations of Communist rule, high level diplomatic sources said

(Only Wednesday Premier Chou En-lai disclosed Red China had undergone a blood bath of monstrous proportions. Chinese Nationalist U.N. Delegate T.F. Tsiang once estimated 20 million Chinese died in the Communist takeover.)

The diplomatic assessment made available today said what Mao may have risked internally by opening the floodgates of criticism of the regime was more than made up by his enhancement of China's position in Asia, possibly at expense of the Russians.

Mao's 15,000-word policy statement, made secretly in February and released in a revised version earlier this month, was said to have been prompted by inner Chinese needs and not by any Peiping desire to propound a new Communist doctrine for world consumption.

But its effect on world Communism was inevitable. His new softer and more flexible line is expected to exert a powerful impact on the European satellites of the Soviet Union.

Behind Mao's statement lies the anxiety of the Peiping regime to achieve internal unity as quickly as possible. The diplomatic assessment said this was markedly lacking nearly eight years after the Reds took control of the mainland.

Mao also appears anxious to avoid the mistakes made in Russia in the 1920s in the economic fields and under Josef Stalin in the political sphere.

Federal Credit Unions of Valley Hold Meeting

The Monongahela Chapter of Federal Credit Unions held a regular meeting last night at Slovak Home in Monessen. William Read, treasurer of Pittsburgh Steel Co. Federal Credit Union and chapter president, presided.

Reports were given by the secretary, Mrs. Gloria Mahalko, of Monessen Page FCU, and treasurer, Ted Hickman, of Donora Zinc Works FCU.

One of the features of the meeting was a demonstration of business machines.

Frank Tokay, treasurer of Donora Steel and Wire FCU and a District 4 official, gave a report on a state conference held last weekend in Philadelphia. Also present were Regis Lawly, a district director, and Paul Demmer, who represented the state FCU.

The next meeting will be held in September in Donora.

Ordination Saturday At Trinity

The Rev. David Dillon, deacon in charge at Trinity Episcopal Church, will be ordained to the priesthood Saturday morning at 10 o'clock at Trinity Cathedral, Pittsburgh.

He will be one of 12 to receive the sacrament of ordination from the Most Rev. Austin Pardue, Bishop of the Pittsburgh Diocese. Five of these men will be ordained priests and seven as deacons.

Clergy from throughout the Diocese will be present to take part in the service.

On Saturday evening members of Trinity Parish will honor the Rev. Mr. Dillon at a reception here in the Parish House, Reed Ave.

The Rev. Mr. Dillon came to Trinity Church last October shortly after he was ordained a deacon at Calvary Church, Pittsburgh. He is a native of South Hills, Pittsburgh, and was graduated from Dormont High School and Pennsylvania State University. Before beginning his study for the ministry he was employed with several industrial firms.

In 1954 he began his study for the ministry by tutoring privately for a year and then attended General Theological Seminary in New York for a year. His local pastorate is his first charge.

The Rev. Mr. Dillon and his parent occupy the newly purchased rectory on State Rd. and he has a brother, Michael, in the service.

Chinese Reds Bombard Two More Islands

TAIPEI (UP)—Chinese Communists bombarded two more Nationalist islands with shore artillery and gunboat fire today. The Red guns were silenced by the Nationalists' American - supplied artillery.

The bombardments were less severe than the 9,000-round Monday shelling of little Quemoy Island, but the defense ministry said the offshore bases still were alerted for a possible Communist invasion attempt.

Today's bombardment coincided with the arrival of Adm. Felix Stump, the U.S. Pacific commander, for strategy talks with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and with Vice Adm. Stuart Ingersoll, commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet.

VOGELERS BROKE, LOSE HOME — Robert A. Vogeler, 45, an international cause celebre half a dozen years ago when he was ransomed from Communist Hungary for $82,000,000 and diplomatic concessions, and his family are shown in their 19-room, $64,000 home in Bedford Hills, N. Y. Vogeler, former International Telephone and Telegraph vice president, says he is flat broke. The home is scheduled for mortgage foreclosure sale July 22. He spent 17 months in prison. Wife is Lucille. Sons are Billy, 15, and Robert, 17.

Graduate Expresses Thanks

OLEAN, N.Y. (UP)—The graduation program at Olean High School Tuesday night did not call for an address from Peter Augostini, one of the 218 seniors being awarded diplomas.

But Peter, with the blessing of Principal M. Wesley Smith, told the audience of 1,300 what was on his mind—and in his heart.

"My appearance on this program is both unscheduled and unusual," Peter said. "I am Peter Augostini, the last of 11 brothers and sisters to graduate from Olean High School.

"Of this number, five have graduated from college and I hope to be a college freshman in the fall. I trust that on this occasion my pride, and that of my family, is understandable and excusable.

"My parents were immigrants who came to this country in search of those privileges which Europe could not provide. They have not been disappointed. Tonight as I, their youngest son, graduate from high school, I know that their hearts are filled with gratitude.

"I am happy that it was my privilege to have been born in the United States of America, where every citizen is free to determine his own role in life and where the doors of opportunity are open to all.

"To the friendly city of Olean our thanks, and to its schools—our appreciation."

The slim, dark-haired youngster returned to his chair as the audience gave him a rousing ovation.

Jap Demonstration

TOKYO (UP)—One - hundred left-wing demonstrators tore down a portion of the wire fence surrounding the giant U.S. Tachikawa Air Base today in an attempt to stop plans to expand it. American air police threw empty tear gas bombs to scare them off.

Chambers Awarded Development Plaques

Representatives from six district Chambers of Commerce attended a meeting at Sweeney's restaurant yesterday, at which time each received an aluminum plaque for entering the State Chamber of Commerce community development contest for 1957.

The contest is designed to stimulate greater activity in the improvement of all phases of community life, both in areas now actively engaged in community development programs and in unorganized areas. The meeting was sponsored by the West Penn Power Co., one of the co-sponsors of the contest. Alex Newell, district manager presided.

Communities represented were Monessen, Donora, Bentleyville, Monongahela, Elizabeth and Yukon.

A. E. Kenney, manager of the West Penn Power Co. area development department, explained that some 210 communities have entered the contest this year. About $20,000 in prize money will be awarded to communities recognized for their outstanding community development projects entered during the year.

He urged all communities to take inventory of their needs and then proceed to satisfy these needs through an orderly and systematic program that will result in making the community a better place in which to live and work.

Henry Gerome, West Penn official made the plaque presentations to the Chamber presidents attending, and asked that the plaques be prominently displayed in the community.

Charles W. Hagerstrand, president of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce and A. E. Wilen, Chamber's vice-president, and George E. Cieply, executive manager, attended the meeting. The plaque was presented to Hagerstrand and will be displayed in downtown Monessen.

Monessen placed third last year in its population class and was awarded cash totaling $1,500.

Local Electrician Is Awarded Prize

Paul Nichols, Monessen electrical contractor, yesterday was awarded first prize in a lighting contest sponsored by the West Penn Power Co.

His designing of lights in two local stores merited the award.

Sad Conclusion to An Unfortunate Affair

THE ACTION of Redstone Presbytery in effect dismissing the Rev. J. Nelson Jackaway from the pastorate of the venerable Rehoboth Presbyterian Church in Rostraver Township writes a rather sad concluding chapter to an affair which has been distressing to many people throughout this neighborhood.

The first public notice of the difficulties at Rehoboth came last January when the Rev. Mr. Jackaway made the sensational charge from his pulpit that forces within his church were exerting "pressure" on him as a result of his activities as chairman of the United Commission for Social Action, popularly known as "Operation: Crusade".

These charges led to an investigation by a special commission of ministers and laymen appointed by Redstone Presbytery. This group studied the Rehoboth situation for about six months and submitted a report and recommendations which were adopted by the Presbytery on Tuesday. The central recommendation is that the pastoral relationship be dissolved as of Oct. 31.

In essence, the Presbytery commission said it found that the difficulties at Rehoboth were entirely internal and had nothing to do with "Operation: Crusade" or the Rev. Mr. Jackaway's activities in that organization. And it recommended that the only way to resolve these internal difficulties is for the pastor to leave.

* * *

HOW a religious denomination manages its internal affairs is, of course, not the public's business. And the Rehoboth situation would not be in the public domain at all except for the Rev. Mr. Jackaway's involvement of "Operation: Crusade" in it.

But "Operation: Crusade" as a quasi-political movement is very much in the public domain and has been frequently in the news in Westmoreland County for several years.

Just what contribution the Rev. Mr. Jackaway made to "Operation: Crusade" we are in no position to say. Our observation was, however, that it had become dormant as a political force before he became its chairman and that his chairmanship has been pretty much a caretaking proposition.

* * *

HOWEVER that may be, it would seem to us most regrettable from the standpoint of the cause of good government if the Rehoboth episode has the effect of making clergymen think of their professional careers before taking a stand for decency in public affairs. When the shoemaker is sticking to his lasts, the banker to his bank, the housewife to her cookstove and the preacher to his Bible — this is the arrangement which suits the crooked politicians and the racket hoodlums perfectly.

We carry no brief for "Operation: Crusade" as such. Reform movements are apt at best to be temporary and not lasting cures for the diseases of government.

Moreover, we have no evidence to dispute the Presbytery's finding that "Operation: Crusade" or opposition to it were not involved in the Rehoboth matter.

But we have to insist that the vital business of politics dare not be left exclusively in the hands of those who use the powers of government to serve ends other than the public good. And we are as convinced as ever that the breakdown of law enforcement in Westmoreland County was serious enough — and still is — to call for strenuous and bold exertions on the part of all men of conscience, preachers included.

To whatever extent the Rehoboth affair discourages such exertions and gives comfort to the forces of corruption, it is, to say the least about it, unfortunate.

Ernest T. Weir

ERNEST T. Weir, now dead at the age of 81, was one of the real titans of the steel industry. His name will surely be ranked with those of Charles M. Schwab and Judge Gary.

Mr. Weir received his first major responsibilities in steel management in Monessen early in this century and just a few years after this city was established. At 28 he was the manager of the American Tin Plate Co. plant here.

It was from this position that he entered the tin plate business for himself in West Virginia and laid the foundations for the establishment of National Steel Corp., one of the largest combines.

Mr. Weir, like most great men, was an original thinker. He had ideas and he dared to put them to work. The fact that his ideas usually were spectacularly good ones pretty much tells the story of his career.

Merry-Go-Round—

Newsmen on Spot with New Rules

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Ike's Commission on Government Security has not recommended that a newsman who publishes secret data shall be jailed for five years and fined $5,000. Yet last winter when this writer voluntarily asked the Defense Department which portions of a guided missiles memo could or could not be published without risk to the nation, the document was confiscated.

Mr. Pearson

The incident helped to touch off the current court-martial of Col. John Nickerson at Huntsville, Ala., a very fine officer whom I had never met and who was not the source of the secret memo. This is why my junior partner, Jack Anderson, was originally called to Huntsville to testify."

The incident also illustrates how a newsman is between the devil and the deep blue sea. If he doesn't consult the Pentagon, he may, under the new rules, go to jail. If he does consult the Pentagon, his information is confiscated and a possible source of that information court-martialed.

A newspaperman has a moral obligation to keep the public informed. He especially has an obligation to inform the public regarding a weapon vital to the defense of the nation which appears to be the object of a battle by big business.

The public has a right to know for instance, when Secretary Wilson's former company, General Motors, together with Douglas Aircraft and Bell Telephone want to control guided missile production through the Air Force; while Chrysler, rival of GM, and Minneapolis Honeywell favor the Army's side.

Against Government Production

With the possibility that airplanes may fade out as weapons in favor of guided missiles, the combine that controls guided missiles will dominate defense production in the future. This is something that should not be a military secret.

According to Colonel Nickerson, in his secret memo:

"The aircraft industry and particularly the Douglas Aircraft Co., openly oppose the development of any missile by a government agency. High officials of the Douglas Company have stated that Douglas is paying particular attention to the possibility of killing off the operation at Huntsville, Ala."

It was last Nov. 26 that Secretary of Defense Wilson sided with Douglas Aircraft, the Air Force, and his own former company, to rule that the Army at Huntsville must stop producing the medium range ballistic missile. This put Chrysler and Minneapolis Honeywell, plus the Army, out of virtually all missile work and concentrated it with Air Force and friends: Douglas, A. C. Sparkplug Division of General Motors, and Bell Telephone. Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald Quarles is a former official of a Bell Telephone subsidiary.

Thus the battle over guided missiles is not just old school tie football rivalry between the Army, Navy, and Air Force, but a battle between big business for the control of the future weapons of the nation.

Another Copy of Memo

After the original copy of the Nickerson memo was confiscated by the Pentagon, a second copy was obtained from sources which must remain nameless. To illustrate some of the things the public has a right to know about, there follow some of Colonel Nickerson's conclusions:

"The Wilson memorandum banning the Army from intermediate ballistic missile production] is a broad denial to the Army of essential tools for modern warfare. The Army must be kept modern by application of modern technology to weapons. This is particularly important because of the numerical inferiority of the U. S. Army to the Soviet Army.

"The Wilson memorandum is solely an expression of Air Force views backed up by Admiral Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The Secretary of the Army, the Army Chief of Staff, the assistant to the Secretary of Defense for guided missiles, and the assistant Secretary of Defense for guided missiles, and the assistant Secretary of Defense for research and development all hold strongly to the view that the Army has an urgent requirement for the IRBM [intermediate range ballistic missile.

Today and Tomorrow—

Back to the Constitution

By WALTER LIPPMANN

In the Watkins Case the Supreme Court, with Chief Justice Warren delivering the opinion of the majority, has tried to set down certain limits on the rights and powers of congressional investigating committees.

Mr. Lippmann

We must, I think, describe the opinion in this tentative way. For the limitations are stated in general terms, and no one can know how they will in the future apply specifically in concrete cases. In practice, the application will depend on how much each particular committee is willing to accept, how much it is determined to stretch, the limitations, and whether the court will be disposed to construe the limitations strictly or loosely.

However, we have in the Watkins decision a powerful assertion of a principle which will influence the conduct of committees, the attitude of witnesses, the actions of the court, and the general posture of public opinion. The principle is that a witness, who believes that his constitutional rights are being abused, may appeal to the courts for protection. The question now before the country is whether this principle is constitutional and is in the public interest.

Clark Dissents

Those who are opposed to the decision must say that they do not think that a witness should be able to appeal from a congressional committee to the courts. This is in substance, what Mr. Justice Clark, the lone dissenter, seems to think — that for the courts to intervene is a usurpation of power, and that, as a matter of fact, it is not in the public interest that the judiciary should "supervise" congressional investigations.

Mr. Justice Clark, who regards the decision as "mischievous", comes very near to saying that congressional committees are a law unto themselves, and that there should be no appeal from them to the courts for the protection of the constitutional rights of the individual witnesses.

"Perhaps," he says, "the rules of conduct placed upon the committees by the House admit of individual abuse and unfairness. But that is none of our [illegible], the court's] affair. So long as the object of the legislative inquiry is legitimate (1) and the questions proposed are pertinent (2) thereto, it is not for the court to interfere with the committee's system of inquiry."

This is a masterpiece of confusion. For it begs the question before the court. In the Watkins case was there individual abuse and unfairness because a particular phase of the inquiry was not legitimate or because the questions put to Watkins were not pertinent?

It is not entirely clear what Justice Clark really thinks. But apparently, it is that the court must assume that what a committee does is legitimate and that the questions it puts are pertinent, and that if they produce "individual abuse and unfairness", it is none of the court's affair.

'Separation of Powers'

On the broad constitutional issue, Justice Clark holds that it is a "trespass upon the fundamental American principle of separation of powers" for the courts to concern themselves with individual abuse and unfairness. But is it truly an American principle that the separation of powers is absolute, so absolute that a committee of Congress cannot be called to account for the lawfulness of what it does?

Surely, the American principle is that Congress is not a sovereign body, accountable only to itself but that it is under the law of the Constitution — of the Constitution as interpreted by the courts and as it may be amended by the people.

The ultimate issue raised by the Watkins case is not constitutional. It is, if we are quite candid, whether in order to combat the Communist movement, which would if it could destroy the American government and the American social order, it is necessary to encourage or to permit congressional committees to proceed outside the Constitution. Can the Constitution be defended only by extra-constitutional means, or can it be defended within its own terms? It has been on the grounds that there was a desperate emergency that many sober and conservative men have supported or connived at McCarthyism.

The Watkins decision is addressed to this particular kind of extra-constitutional investigation, of which the object is to outlaw by exposure and pitiless publicity all behavior which might assist, might favor, might tolerate the spread of Communist propaganda. These investigations are not addressed primarily to illegal acts, to espionage and subversion. They are addressed to activities which are not, strictly speaking, against the law and could not be prosecuted in a court. These investigations are not carried on for the purpose of informing Congress how to make new laws. Quite the contrary. It is evident that laws prohibiting these activites would be in open conflict with the Constitution.

There being no legal way to suppress such activities as propaganda, infiltration, and fellow-traveling, Congress with the support of public opinion, has created committees which are designed, among other things, to suppress by intimidation what cannot be suppressed by due process of law.

The Supreme Court has waited a long time — some ten years — before it has intervened in what is unconstitutional process, resorted to on the grounds that fire must be fought with fire, that the end, which is to stop the spread of Communism, justifies any means.

I do not think the long patience of the court shows that the Eisenhower court is more liberal than the Roosevelt-Truman court, but rather that the times have changed. The emergency — if there was one which could not be met by lawful means — is over, and the presumption is now that investigating committees must work within the limits of the Constitution.

Girard Case Is Grave Issue for High Court

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—This city is boiling with discussion of recent Supreme Court opinions in the field of individual constitutional rights as opposed to federal prosecutors and congressional investigators.

There has been nothing like it since the middle 1930s when the high court junked some of the key legislation of FDR's New Deal. Government prosecutors are appalled by the implications of the court's new version of constitutional law.

Mr. Wilson

This week's steamy discussion of the recent opinions is not a patch, however, on what may be expected shortly. Pending now before the Supreme Court and scheduled for quick disposition is the government's appeal against a lower court ruling that the United States must not turn over for trial by Japanese courts a GI named William S. Girard. Girard shot and killed a Japanese woman and is charged with manslaughter.

Hear on Administration

The United States government has agreed that Girard shall be tried by the Japanese, an agreement which has aroused national controversy and turned considerable political heat on the Eisenhower administration. The Japanese people are equally, or more, excited. So much so that agreement to the trial of Girard by Japanese courts has the appearance of a move to appease popular opinion in Japan.

The lower federal court here which forbade the Eisenhower administration to hand Girard over to the Japanese held that the Constitution guaranteed him trial by established American processes. Government lawyers appear to be genuinely confident that the Supreme Court will reverse that finding.

They argue that the administration's right to deliver Girard to the Japanese is legally sound because it is by executive agreement between the two nations arrived at under terms of a treaty between the United States and Japan. It seems to follow that in signing that treaty, the United States signed away some of the constitutional rights of any citizen who finds himself in Girard's position.

Communists' Rights

However just that may be, it is a fact that the Supreme Court in the past fortnight has been dealing in spectacular fashion with the matter of individual rights under the Constitution. Specifically, these were the civil rights of U. S. citizens. By chance, the citizens—and there were a number of them—were Communists.

The Supreme Court reversed the convictions of some who had been charged as members of the Communist conspiracy. It ordered new trials for others. These actions were of a pattern with previous opinions in which Communists or their sympathizers found safe harbor in the Constitution's Bill of Rights.

If the Supreme Court is unable to find for a young American GI as safe a Bill of Rights harbor as it has found for members of the Communist conspiracy, there is likely to be considerable popular uproar in the United States.

The Woman's View—

How to Ease Tensions Is Studied by Women

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Let 10 million women get riled about something and there usually is plenty of action.

The result, in this case, is a unique project operating without fanfare in small and large towns alike. Its purpose: To ease the tension between groups rubbing each other the wrong way. It may be friction created by integration of the Negro in schools, by migrant workers, by influx of Puerto Ricans into an area.

Gay Pauley

To keep such tension from coming to what a spokesman called the "boiling point," as it did in Clinton, Tenn., recently, the United Church Women has pioneered a workshop program called "How To Deal With Controversy."

Here is how the plan works. Three members of a national team join with local citizens, everyone from a city councilman to president of the YWCA, for a two-day session.

Try To Solve Problems

The national representatives include some prominent person who volunteers his or her time, a staff member of UCW, and a denominational staff member.

The whole idea, said Mrs. William Murdoch Macleod, UCW director, is to talk about a community problem and attempt to solve it.

To date, 24 workshops have been held across the country. The workshops are financed by a grant from the Fund for the Republic, with the UCW providing the staff help.

Mrs. Macleod, a native of South Carolina and director of UCW for nine years, said that in one instance Negroes participated in a workshop in a city where one public official had declared no Negro lived and none ever would.

Inter-Racial Group Meets

In Milford, Del., an inter-racial group sat down to discuss the best methods of integration.

In Fresno, Calif., she said, a retired Presbyterian minister, a Baptist minister of Chinese ancestry and a Methodist minister of Japanese ancestry met with city housing officials to discuss slum clearance and housing for minority groups.

—"We're not what you'd call a bunch of do-gooders," said Mrs. Macleod, whose UCW group is part of the National Council of Churches and represents 10 million women.

"That pious term isn't enough. What we're trying to do is change the climate in given areas so there are equal rights for all."

Warn Against Sunday Practice

Monessen High officials have mailed letters to all of their varsity coaches informing them that PIAA rules specifically forbid practice on Sunday. "Of course, we're hoping that other schools do likewise," commented MHS principal Henry Furio . . . Incidentally several district schools have engaged in Sunday practice sessions in the past. This has been particularly true of basketball, a sport in which it is easy to conceal a Sabbath drill . . . The Pitt football coaches may be worried about the upcoming season, but that isn't the case with publicity man Carroll (Beanie) Cook. Probably with an eye cocked on the advance ticket sale, Cook was recently caught dreaming about a Panther win over Oklahoma in the '57 opener at Pitt Stadium.

* * *

Redstone High's upcoming football schedule will include only one Class A foe — arch rival German Twp. All other opponents will be double-A, including Johnstown, Brownsville, Uniontown, Donora, Monessen, Monongahela and Charleroi . . . Redstone has also toughened its exhibition basketball card a bit by adding Charleroi . . . Monessen High cagers have met California Teachers three times in the past, winning on every occasion! . . . Edward Korte, a Washington, Pa., man, has developed a novel fishing lure which may be cast, trolled or used for spinning.

Conn Picks Dawson; Who Else?

"He'll murder Reybon Stubbs." That's the word from Bill Conn in reference to his fighter, Wayman Dawson, who will meet Stubbs tonight in Jeannette. "Who's Stubbs?" asks Conn. "They're all afraid of Dawson: nobody wants to fight him." . . . Be that it may, most of the experts are still picking Stubbs to win without too much trouble . . . This is a reminder to all bowling leagues that we are happy to carry their results providing: 1. First names are included: 2. The story is submitted in time for the following day's paper.

Only eight lettermen will return for the 1957 Monessen High football team. And just three of them — Dan Barton, Bob Pauline and Bobo Aldrich — saw regular duty last season. The remaining letter winners are Ed Allen, Joe Karbowsky, Paul Tobacco, Ken Bronson, and Carl Rattay. No less than 16 Greyhound footballers picked up diplomas last month . . . Similarly, the MHS basketball team was hard hit by graduation. Dick DiBiaso and Joe Kurey are the only lettermen returning. However none of the MHS coaches has asked for the crying towel as yet.

Charleroi, Donora Look Strong

From the mail bag comes this query: "Who's supposed to have the top football team in the Big Six this season?" . . . To listen to the coaches, everyone will be weak again. Actually Donora and Charleroi seem to have the greatest number of returning letter-winners. Charleroi's great 1956 club returns almost to a man, with the exception of those two great standouts Myron Pottios and Bill Pentz. Without that pair, the Cougars may not be as strong as a paper estimate would seem to indicate. Donora just might come up with a great team if the Dragons can find some solid linemen. They have the makings of a super backfield in Dave Russell, Angelo Dabiero, Tom Urbanik and maybe Tom Watson.

Pirates Whack Cubs, 15-5, Then Play to 5-5 Tie

CHICAGO (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates beat the Chicago Cubs, 15-5, Wednesday in the teams' battle to stay out of the National League cellar.

The teams then played to a 5-5 tie in 11 innings in the second game of their doubleheader.

Despite the tie, the Pirates managed to change places with the Cubs and move into seventh place by winning the first game. The Cubs dropped into the cellar.

The Pirates got 19 hits in the first game, including homers by Frank Thomas, Bill Mazeroski and Roman Mejias. Thomas also hit two doubles to drive in four runs. Ten of the Bucs' hits were for extra bases.

Mejias, who knocked in three runs, and Dee Fondy had four hits apiece. Vern Law went the route for his fourth victory of the season.

The Pirates continued homer-happy in the second game, with Bill Virdon, Mazeroski, Hank Foiles and Bob Skinner hitting the ball out of the park.

The tie game was the second between the two teams. On June 16 they played to a 4-4 tie. That game will be completed July 16 at Pittsburgh.

Today the teams complete their series with an afternoon game. Bob Purkey (7-6) will start for the Pirates against Dick Drott (6-7).

Mere 10 Percentage Points Separates Top Four Teams

By FRED DOWN

The team that eventually comes out on top in the chaotic National League struggle probably will go into the World Series with the lowest pennant-winning victory total in major league history.

A mere 10 percentage points separated the first four clubs today, with the St. Louis Cardinals maintaining a four-point lead over the second-place Cincinnati Redlegs after both were beaten Wednesday night.

The race tightened up to an almost incredible degree Wednesday night when the Philadelphia Phillies walloped the Cardinals, 11-3, the New York Giants clobbered the Redlegs, 17-7, and the Milwaukee Braves drubbed the Brooklyn Dodgers, 13-9. The Pittsburgh Pirates routed the Chicago Cubs, 15-5, before the teams played an 11-inning, 5-5 tie halted by darkness.

The Chicago White Sox retained their half-game margin in the "runaway" American League race when they outlasted the Boston Red Sox, 7-5, and the second-place New York Yankees beat the Cleveland Indians, 3-1. The Baltimore Orioles defeated the Kansas City Athletics, 1-0, for their third straight shutout and the Detroit Tigers downed the Washington Senators, 4-1.

Simmons Beats McDaniel

The Phillies unleashed a 16-hit attack that included four hits by Chico Fernandez and a homer by Harry Anderson to hand the Cardinals their third straight defeat in four games. Curt Simmons pitched a steady nine-hitter to win his seventh game while Lindy McDaniel suffered his fourth loss.

The sixth-place Giants buried the Redlegs with a 20-hit bombardment that saw Bobby Thomson drive in five runs with a homer, double and two singles and Willie Mays knock in four with two doubles and a triple. Johnny Klippstein suffered his seventh defeat.

The Braves overcame a 9-4 deficit with three runs in the fifth inning and six in the eighth to snap a two-game losing streak. Hank Aaron, Eddie Mathews and Wes Covington tied a major league record by hitting successive homers in the fifth inning of a game marked by eight round-trippers. Mathews topped the Braves' best attack of the year, driving in five runs with a pair of homers and a single as Gene Conley picked up his first win for Milwaukee and Clem Labine suffered his fourth straight loss for Brooklyn.

Dee Fondy and Roman Mejias had four hits each and Frank Thomas drove in four runs in Pittsburgh's 19-hit opening-game attack that gave Vern Law his fourth win. The Cubs tied the nightcap when a walk, Bobby Morgan's triple and Jim Bolger's single produced two runs in the ninth.

Chisox Get Third Straight

The White Sox scored their third straight victory and seventh in a row over the Red Sox this season when a fifth-inning homer by Bubba Phillips and Earl Torgeson's run-producing ninth-inning single helped them fend off a late Boston rally marked by homers by Billy Klaus and Ted Lepcio. Jim Wilson got his eighth win.

Relief star Bob Grim throttled a ninth-inning rally to preserve Johnny Kucks' fifth victory for the Yankees. All three of the Yanks' runs resulted from sacrifice flies —two by Hank Bauer and one by pinch-hitter Enos Slaughter — as Bob Lemon absorbed his fifth defeat.

Connie Johnson hurled a three-hitter to stretch the Orioles' scoreless string to 32 consecutive innings and won his sixth decision when Jim Busby cracked his fifth homer in the fifth inning. Arnold Portocarrero hurled a three-hitter for the Athletics but was charged with his third setback.

Jim Bunning won his eighth game and completed the cycle of scoring at least one victory over each of Detroit's rivals with a six-hitter that dealt the Senators their fifth straight defeat. Chuck Stobbs, who snapped a two-year 16-game losing streak in his previous start, absorbed his 12th defeat of the year.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

THE WAGGLE

One Step at a Time

A lot of poor golf shots trace back to the fact that the shooter got to thinking ahead of himself and got all twisted up as a result. Here is a step-by-step guide of things to keep in mind in hitting any golf shot:

1. Figure out how you mean to play the shot. 2. Try to get a feeling of rhythm and timing. 3. Get the left-hand grip right. 4. Get the right-hand grip right. 5. Line up the face of the club with ball. ...

6. Line yourself up with face of club. 7. Waggle. 8. Swing back so as to get your hands in hitting position. 9. Start down slowly and smoothly. 10. Bring clubhead into ball square with intended line of flight.

Congressman Feels Dodgers Headed For California

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Brooklyn congressman said ruefully today he is convinced the Brooklyn Dodgers have definitely decided to move to Los Angeles next season.

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) said he drew this conclusion from testimony Wednesday of Dodger President Walter O'Malley before a House judiciary subcommittee investigating baseball. Celler heads the group.

But Rep. Kenneth B. Keating, an upstate New Yorker and senior Republican on Celler's subcommittee, differed sharply with his chairman.

Keating told reporters he believes O'Malley still might consider staying in Brooklyn if the city of New York makes an acceptable offer for building a new stadium.

Time Running Out

O'Malley said if an acceptable stadium plan can be worked out the Dodgers will stay where they are. But he said "time is running out" and he will make the final decision soon.

Celler said he gained the impression O'Malley is "over the brink" and will move to the West Coast no matter what Brooklyn does to try to hold the team.

The subcommittee recessed Wednesday after six days of hearings on baseball and will meet again July 10. Purpose of the hearings is to determine whether sports anti-trust legislation is needed.

Dodgers on TV To Cost Dollar

WASHINGTON (UP)—Television viewers may have to pay $1 a game to watch the Dodgers in the near future, if the team remains in Brooklyn.

Walter O'Malley, team president, told the House Judiciary Committee Wednesday he had tentatively agreed to a deal with Skiatron, Inc., for pay-as-you-see television of the Dodger games.

The "admission price" for each set owner probably would be $1 a game, said O'Malley, who added that the deal was not contingent on the team moving to the West Coast. In fact, the negotiations were conducted on one condition: That the Dodgers remain in Brooklyn.

Castellani Bows To Bobby Boyd

CHICAGO (UP)—Rocky Castellani had no apology for defeat today because he fought Bobby Boyd for 10 rounds and "put on a good show for the television fans."

Boyd, the 8-5 favorite, was hard pressed all the way to win a split decision, and when his arm was raised most of the 1,772 fans booed lustily. Actually Castellani had more points credited to him than Boyd.

Referee Bernie Weissman scored it 47-45 for Boyd and Judge Frank Clark had it 47-46 for the winner, the same margin as the United Press card. Judge James McManus gave Castellani a four-point bulge, 47-43.

Castellani weighed 160½ to 160 pounds for Boyd.

Van Voorhis Nips Ozarks, 2-1, To Spoil Sepitko's 3-Hitter

Van Voorhis scored two unearned runs to nip the Monessen Ozarks, 2-1, in Mon Valley action last night.

The setback spoiled a brilliant three-hit pitching performance by teen-aged Myron Sepitko.

He fanned four and would have won except for some shaky support.

Joe Widziszewski picked up the win on a four hitter. He missed a shutout when the Ozarks scored an unearned run themselves.

The host Vans took the lead in the second inning on an error, walk and single by Ray Watons.

Square Things

Monessen squared things in the fifth when Pappy Johnson walked, stole second, moved to third on an overthrow and came home on an error.

In the same inning, the Vans picked up the deciding tally. A walk, error and sacrifice fly accounted for the tally.

Monessen muffed a chance of breaking the game wide open in the third, loading the bases with just one man away.

However Widisewski was extremely tough in the clutch.

Fine Forestry Camp Offered State Boys

The ideal facilities of the Forestry Camp operated by Pennsylvania State University are again being utilized by boys privileged to attend the Junior Conservation Camp conducted there.

In 1948 a limited number of Pennsylvania high school sophomores and juniors were first offered this camping and outdoor-living experience. Since 1949 the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs has sponsored boys selected to receive this special training. Approximately 1,200 youths have accepted the opportunity so far.

The Federation's camp chairman, Charles W. Stoddart, Jr., is a member of the University faculty.

While at the camp the boys have many unforgettable experiences. They are kept busy by a diversified program, and they learn a great deal about soil, water, forests, minerals, and wildlife. The youngsters are taught, practically, the important facts about natural resource use and preservation by instructors from state and federal conservation agencies.

This worthwhile program in outdoor living and learning began this year on June 9. Four groups of boys will enjoy a session at the Forestry Camp this summer before it closes, August 3.

The Pennsylvania Trappers Association held a well-attended meeting on June 8th at Hamburg, Pa. One of the principal items discussed dealt with the recommendations the Association would make to the Game Commission relative to fur seasons for the coming hunting license year. Another topic was legislation pertaining to the trappers' interests being considered in the current session of the General Assembly. Other matters of special interest to those present of course received their share of consideration.

In addition to the Pennsylvania trappers, out-of-state champion fur takers were also in attendance, as well as the editor of National Trappers' Digest, outdoor writers, trap company and equipment representatives, fur buyers, and others. One man came all the way from Iowa.

The Pennsylvania Game Commission was represented at this meeting by Paul Failor, who heads the agency's predator control program, and Hayes Englert, the Commission's Assistant Chief of Law Enforcement.

Costly Nest—

"Soon after planting tomato plants, the last week of May, I found about a dozen of them missing or damaged," says Game Protector Joseph Kistner, Centre County.

"Keeping close check on the garden I learned that a pair of starlings were tearing the plants apart and using them to build a nest in a hollow tree. Total loss before the situation was corrected was about 30 plants. An empty nest of expensive construction is now available for occupancy. The former tenants are no longer around to use it."

High Court Attacked As 'Aid and Comfort' To Communist Party

By LEE NICHOLS

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Supreme Court was attacked today as an "aid and comfort" to Communism and defended as a co-equal branch of the government doing its part in safeguarding individual liberties.

The mounting controversy over recent court rulings brought with it new warnings of threats to law enforcement.

The FBI was reported ready to withdraw from prosecutions of espionage and certain other criminal cases if necessary to protect the secrecy of its files. The Justice Department urged laws to safeguard FBI files, and to establish new police procedures to prevent breakdown of prosecutions against hardened criminals.

The Senate exploded in debate on the court Wednesday. Views ranged from that of Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S C.) who charged the tribunal had "gone power wild" to Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) who pleaded against "abuse of the highest tribunal of our land."

Rep. Donald L. Jackson (R-Calif.), in a speech prepared for House delivery today, denounced the high court's current course as "lending aid, comfort and assistance" to the Communist "enemy."

Asserting that June 17, when two of the most disputed court rulings were issued, might be celebrated by Communists henceforth as a "red letter day," Jackson said Congress should protect its committees by special legislation or abolish them.

Jackson, a member of the committee on un-American activities, found himself sharply at variance with committee Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.).

Walter said Wednesday no new legislation is required to meet the Supreme Court's edict in the Watkins case, one of those delivered June 17. That decision said witnesses can refuse to answer committee questions unless the purpose of the inquiry is given and the relevancy of the questions shown.

Walter said recent San Francisco hearings of an un-American activities subcommittee showed the court's ruling could be followed without difficulty.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N.Y.) in a speech prepared for the New York State Veterans of Foreign Wars convention at Rochester also said it is "entirely practical" to guard against internal subversion while complying with high court rulings in the Watkins and other cases.

He said the House and Senate can simply adopt adequate rules of procedure to meet Supreme Court objections. Javits said it would be "unwise and unhealthy" to "curse the court" because it is a co-equal branch of government with its own share of the duty of safeguarding individual liberty and national security.

The new rulings were already having wide repercussions in law courts.

Playwright Arthur Miller sent his attorney before a federal judge here today to seek a reversal of his contempt of Congress conviction. He acted because of the Supreme Court ruling in the Watkins case, similar to his own.

Frank W. Brewster, convicted Wednesday of contempt of Congress, announced he would appeal on the basis of the same high court ruling.

TALK PEACEFUL ATOM ENERGY — Japan's atomic energy chairman, Koichi Uda, and U. S. Atomic Energy Chairman Lewis L. Strauss shake hands in Washington as they confer on a program for co-operation on peaceful atomic energy research.

Where Is Horatio Alger?

CHICAGO (UP)—A University of Chicago psychologist says Horatio Alger has been supplanted as a national hero by "the affable young man in the gray flannel suit."

And the idea that "a penny saved is a penny earned" has given way to the slogan, "no down payment."

Jacob W. Getzels, associate professor of educational psychology, made these observations in a talk to the graduate library school. Values have changed, he said, and librarians probably are stocking the wrong books for today's younger generation.

"The old Puritan concept of absolute morality is giving way to a sort of moral relativity," Getzels said. "Morality has become a statistical rather than an ethical concept.

"Morality is what the group thinks is moral."

With this change in values, Getzels said, there has come a decline in individualism and a trend to compliance and "conformity to the group."

"Individual stimulation as a value has given way to group tranquility," he said.

A generation ago, he said, there was an obligation "to work hard, to do your best, to rise to the top, to sacrifice present pleasures for some future good."

There still is a desire to rise to the top, he said, but the method has changed.

Low Bidders on School in County

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Public School Building Authority has received unofficial low bids totaling $224,895 for construction of an elementary school building at Syahlstown, Westmoreland County.

Ivan A. Dietz, Uniontown, submitted an unofficial low bid of $113,900 for general construction work. Other unofficial low bids included: B. J. Tamasy Sons, West Newton, heating and ventilation, $37,000; Woods Heating & Plumbing Co., Uniontown, plumbing, $21,000, and Willard Saylor, Holsopple, electrical work, $19,995.

More Testing Price Of Clean H-bomb

WASHINGTON (UP) — The weapons people have told President Eisenhower that the price of the clean H-bomb is continued testing.

They put it to him less bluntly than that. They said "give us four or five years to test each step of our development and we will produce an absolutely clean bomb."

The President so quoted them at his news conference Wednesday. But he went on to say that he is nevertheless determined to "go right ahead" with American proposals for suspension of tests as a first step toward ultimate disarmament.

So whether the clean H- bomb ever is perfected remains to be seen.

By "absolutely clean" the weapons scientists don't mean just 95 or 96 or 97.5 per cent clean. They mean an H-bomb that would generate no radioactive fallout whatever.

There is no such thing now. The weapons makers cannot now produce an H-bomb without an atomic fission trigger, and no weapon with fission in it is clean. Fission is the source of all the weapons radioactivity that the world is so upset about.

The scientists who put the test issue to the President this week were Drs. Ernest O. Lawrence, Edward Teller and Mark M. Mills, all of the University of California radiation laboratory at Berkeley. That is the outfit that runs the Atomic Energy Commission's hot-shot weapons lab at Livermore, Calif.

Big Missiles Are Fired at Florida Site

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP) —The sound and speed of two missiles fired from the Air Force's launching site here led observers today to believe they were of the Redstone type.

The earth shook and smoke trails marked the sky Wednesday as the rockets headed out over the Atlantic, about seven hours apart. The missiles themselves were out of sight before residents of the area heard their roar.

The Air Force at nearby Patrick Air Force Base declined to identify the missiles.

It is known, however, that both the Redstone and Jupiter are available for testing at the center, and from descriptions given by those who heard the noise and saw the smoke, officials at Redstone have indicated they probably were not Jupiters.

Tillerman is the name for the fireman who steers the rear end of a hook and ladder truck.

Sister Killed In Gun Accident

NEWTON, N. J. (UP)—A 16-year-old boy accidentally killed his teenaged sister Wednesday with a bullet that was meant for a bird.

Kathleen Ann Pedersen, 15, died instantly when she was struck in the forehead by a 22 caliber bullet fired by her brother Terrance.

Kathleen had accompanied Terrance and a friend, David Aten, 16, when they set out into the woods in nearby Stillwater Township in search of game.

The girl walked ahead enjoying the scenery while the boys darted in and out of the woods bordering on a rural road.

Hoover Is Back At State

WASHINGTON (UP)—Former Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. has been called back to the State Department as a part-time consultant on oil and other problems, it was learned today.

Hoover, 53-year-old son of the former President, resigned Feb. 1 from the No. 2 job in the State Department to return to private life in California.

Administration sources said Hoover returned to the State Department "for several days last week" to begin work as a consultant. He conferred with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and other officials on oil quota problems, Middle Eastern oil and domestic oil problems relating to foreign issues.

In George's Office

While in Washington Hoover is using the office of former Sen. Walter F. George who now is in Georgia recovering from a heart condition. George, special assistant to President Eisenhower, hopes to make a trip to North Atlantic Treaty countries if his health permits before resigning his advisory post around the end of this year, officials said.

Although Hoover has consulted with the State Department thus far chiefly on oil problems, a spokesman said he could be brought in for advice and assignment by Dulles "on any problem as needed."

Sons of Italy In Convention

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—The Pennsylvania Sons of Italy opened its annual convention here Wednesday.

The key item on the convention agenda is the establishment of an independent Women's Division of the Pennsylvania Sons of Italy. The move would merge the 70 women's auxiliaries in the state into an independent organization with its own officers and constitution.

Gov. George M. Leader will address the 500 delegates Saturday night at a banquet honoring the organization's long-time president, Eugene Alessandroni, president judge of the Common Pleas Court of Philadelphia.

The use of women's names to designate hurricanes has dramatized them in popular imagination.

Secret Records Presented at Turnpike Conspiracy Trial

HARRISBURG (UP) — Testimony from the secret records of the special grand jury investigation of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission was expected to be introduced today at the resumption of the turnpike conspiracy trial.

Part of the record, made public for the first time, was read in court Wednesday in an attempt by the state to show the roots of the alleged conspiracy aimed at swindling the turnpike of $19,500,000 through a contract for mine-filling work in the construction of the Northeastern Extension in 1955.

Robert F. Wallower, one of the four court stenographers who took the testimony, read from the witness stand part of the testimony of John D. Paul, former commission engineer and one of the nine defendants.

The record gave Paul's account to the grand jury of how the commission, in 1954, found itself with a 20 million dollar surplus fund, and contracted with a firm headed by two close relatives of then Commission Chairman Thomas J. Evans for a $19,500,000 mine-flushing contract supposedly to prevent subsidence of the roadway where it traverses the anthracite fields in Luzerne and Lackawanna counties.

The surplus resulted from the fact that construction contracts were much lower than anticipated in planning estimates. If it had not been used for the mine work, it would have been returned to the turnpike bondholders.

Paul said he overheard Evans ask suspended Commissioner James F. Torrance "What will you do with the money?" following a commission meeting "in the latter part of 1954."

Paul said he was in the room when the conversation took place "by accident."

"I concluded that I was sort of an interloper at the time," Paul told the grand jury, "because that was a matter which the commission itself normally discussed between its members and something in which I wouldn't be invited to participate."

He said he noted "a strong relationship" between the 20 million dollar figure and the $19,500,000 estimate for the mine - flushing submitted by the Manu-Mine Research and Development Corp., Reading, but that "it was a foregone conclusion" that the firm would be engaged for the project.

He said he knew at that time that Manu-Mine president Charles W. Stickler Jr. was Evans' nephew and the chairman was "interested in Stickler's getting along and making good." However, he said he did not realize that Evans' son, the late Richard Evans, who died in a turnpike automobile accident in August, 1955, was also a member of the firm.

In his testimony before the grand jury, which last January recommended his indictment along with Evans, Stickler and Torrance as well as six other defendants, Paul told of receiving a 21-inch television set as a "Christmas present" from Evans in 1955.

Paul said the set was delivered at his home and that he assumed it came from Manu-Mine, but that he was "very fussy about things like that" and called the chairman for advice.

"Mr. Evans said, 'I want you to have it'," Paul told the jury. "'Consider it a gift from Mrs. Evans and me'."

He said he had never received anything but a card from Evans previously, and added: "It was unusual, to say the least."

Friendship Circle Meeting Held; Discusses Plans

Fifteen members attended the June meeting of the World Friendship Circle of Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church Tuesday evening. Mrs. Wanda Calhoun was the leader, using as her topic, "People Do Starve for Books".

In connection with her topic, Mrs. Calhoun had two charts which illustrated some of the ways Dr. Wesley Sadler has formed an alphabet for the people of Liberia, especially the Loma Tribes. The missionary benediction concluded the lesson period.

Mrs. Dorothy Zumbro presided at the business session. Plans were made for an outdoor meeting to be held on July 23 at the home of Mrs. Barbara Schneidmiller. Mrs. Peggie Nesbitt and Mrs. Zumbro will be in charge of the arrangements.

The group voted to send a donation to Parish Abroad, and also to sew hospital gowns for Passavant Hospital as a Christmas project. The latter project will be started in September.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Janet Farmer and Miss Esther Lux.

Hoffa Case Wind Up Expected

WASHINGTON (UP) — Government attorneys planned to wrap up their main case against Teamsters leader James R Hoffa today by concluding questioning of Senate rackets investigator John Cye Cheasty

Cheasty gave testimony Wednesday linking the powerful Midwest Teamsters leader with New York racketeer John DioGuardia and the "sale" of a Detroit Teamsters local.

Hoffa and his co - defendant, Miami attorney Hyman I Fischbach, are being tried on conspiracy and bribery charges for allegedly planting Cheasty as an $18,000 "spy" on the committee to slip them committee secrets.

Speaks of Data

Cheasty said some of the data he gave Hoffa from the time he started working for the committee Feb 19 until Hoffa's arrest March 13 included:

—That Hoffa was a "friend" of DioGuardi (alias Johnny Dio).

—That Hoffa was "associated with" a mysterious "Pete and Joe combination in Detroit" Hoffa s headquarters When Cheasty started to elaborate, he was cut off by government attorney Edward P Troxell and a protest by defense attorney Edward Bennett Williams

—That Hoffa's wife was put on the union payroll for $100 a month as the "pay-off" on an alleged deal involving a Teamsters Union "jukebox" local at Detroit

NEW IKE LIKER — Actress Gia Scala kisses a photo of President Eisenhower in Hollywood after taking her examination for U. S citizenship. She gave her real name as Giovanna Grazia Guiseppina Katerina Scolglio, said she was born in England. It takes about 30 days from examination to citizenship.

Teen-age Youth Faces Long Term

CHICAGO (UP)—A fourth youth faced a lengthy prison term today in an apparent crackdown on Chicago teen-age killers

Joseph Schwartz, 18, was sentenced Wednesday to 50 years in prison for the senseless bludgeon murder of a Negro boy.

Trial of Schwartz's 11 fellow gang members accused in the hammer slaying of Alvin Palmer, 17, began immediately.

Exactly a week ago, a Criminal Court jury sentenced three youths to terms ranging from 99 to 110 years for murdering a motel operator during a holdup spree.

Governors Plan To Confer with Ike on Powers

WILLIAMSBURG, Va (UP)— Gov William G Stratton of Illinois invited fellow-governors today to nominate members of a committee to confer with the Eisenhower administration on ways to increase the powers of the states

Stratton, a Republican and newly elected chairman of the National Governors' Conference, was authorized by the conference Wednesday to name the committee to follow up a proposal by President Eisenhower in a speech here Monday The 1957 meeting of the conference adjourned Wednesday.

The Eisenhower plan was expected to figure in discussions at a White House lunch in Washington today to which the 19 Republican governors at the conference were invited

Eisenhower proposed that the governors and his administration set up a joint task force to study how to return some federal functions and tax sources to the states

The proposal was greeted by considerable skepticism among the governors Some, however, felt the effort might be worthwhile if it merely arrested the trend toward greater exercise of federal power.

Today in Congress—

Democrats Hand Big Setback to Group Pushing for Tax Cuts

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Democratic - controlled congressional subcommittee handed a major setback today to Democrats pushing for early tax relief and an easing of credit restrictions

The joint subcommittee on fiscal policy also backed up Treasury Secretary George M Humphrey who has been defending the administration's "tight money" policies against Democratic attacks the past week

In a unanimous report, the three Democrats and two Republicans on the subcommittee warned that either a tax cut or easier credit policies would increase inflation, sharply boost the cost of living and threaten to bring on government wage-price control

The group said there should be no such moves unless the economy suffers a setback or unless the Presidents spending budget is cut three billion to five billion dollars It saw little indication of either

The report issued Wednesday night strongly endorsed the Federal Reserve Board's "tight money" policy This brought the subcommittee alongside Humphrey who has been defending the policy before the Senate Finance Committee

Other congressional news:

Postal: The Senate has passed and sent to the White House a 133 million dollar supplemental appropriations bill to run the Post Office Department during the next fiscal year The amount was $16,500 000 less than Postmaster General Arthur E Summerfield had demanded to prevent postal service cuts But Chairman Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.) of the Senate Appropriations Committee said the reduction would not result in any cutbacks.

Cotton: A leading textile manufacturer called for a "positive and courageous course of action" by government and industry to increase cotton consumption. C. A Cannon, president of Cannon Mills Co of Kannapolis, N.C., recommended expanded cotton production, lower market prices and a freeing of cotton distribution from government controls. He told the House Agriculture Committee "the ability of cotton to compete is related directly to the soundness of government policy"

Information: Chairman Loyd Wright of the Commission on Government Security promised to give Congress "in the near future" specific examples of security leaks by the press. He did so after being challenged by Chairman John E Moss (D-Calif) of a House information subcommittee. Moss said "similar unsupported charges" against the press had been made before and proved groundless

Duke in Safety Appeal; Then Smashes Up Auto

LONDON (UP)—The Duke of Edinburgh smacked his luxurious car into a tiny, pre-war Morris Wednesday evening a few hours after he had made an appeal for careful driving in a London speech.

The Duke was driving Queen Elizabeth to a dinner at Windsor Castle in honor of the Commonwealth prime ministers when his fast Lagonda hit the other car. No one was injured.

The duke was fresh from a luncheon meeting of the British Automobile Assn., of which he is president. There he said motorists should take their share of the blame for the 800 casualties each day on British roads.

"We've got to help drivers be better and safe drivers," said the duke who has been in a series of minor accidents himself.

The man whose car was struck by the duke's drove quickly off into the twilight without giving his name. He, too, apparently escaped injury.

The duke's dark green Lagonda hit the automobile when it turned suddenly onto the main London-Windsor highway near Staines, 20 miles southwest of London.

Reg Parker, who keeps a small grocery store across from the crash scene, said the driver of the Morris climbed out briskly to survey the damage — a damaged fender on the duke's car and a broken headlight.

The duke, in dark glasses and wearing suede gloves, leaned out his window and shouted. "It's all right. No damage. Don't worry. It's all my fault," Parker quoted him.

"The other man didn't seem to realize who it was at first," Parker said. "Then he saw the Queen sitting in the ar, smiled hesitated, then got in his own car again and drove off."

The duke followed him. Neither the Queen nor he got out of the car. It was not known whether either driver reported the accident, as required by British law, but Staines police said they had heard nothing of any crash.

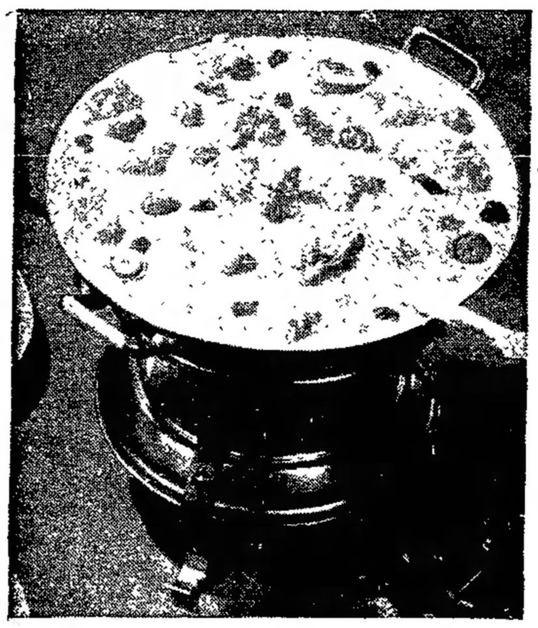
Every homemaker wants the very best for her family — including the finest foods possible. Now that may sound like a large order and a bit expensive to achieve. However, many district women have solved the problem with POMCO FINER FOODS. Pomco picks the finest, and processes with extra care to bring these products to you at the peak of perfection. Whether you choose Pomco canned vegetables, canned fruits, preserves, jams and jellies, pickles and relishes, catsup, olives, coffee, condensed milk, piecrust mix or a score of other items, you know you have chosen the finest when you pick Pomco.

What is more delicious than a dish of tender, new Pomco Peas? Why, a can of Pomco Peas combined with a can of Pomco Whole Small Onions, that's what! And the really knowing cook will add a few shreds of garden lettuce to the peas-onions combination just before serving. A generous dollop of butter is all the dressing this dish needs. Nothing could be simpler to prepare and yet the effect is festive indeed.

Have you discovered the wonderful convenience of the 8-ounce size Pomco canned fruits and vegetables. The 8 ounces provide two average servings and are ideal for families of two, live-aloners and those folks who can't all agree on one fruit or vegetable. Buy Pomco 8-ouncers and keep everyone happy with his or her favorite . . . and with no left-overs either!



Unexpected company at the door, and the refrigerator is practically bare? Despair not, lady. If your pantry shelf contains a can or two of Pomco Tuna Fish and a can of Pomco Mixed Vegetables, you are on your way to a company dish that will please all comers.

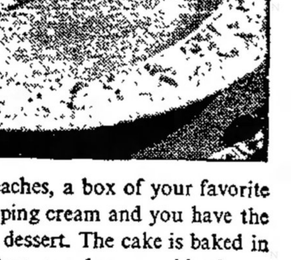
2 cans Pomco Tuna Fish — drained and flaked
1 can Pomco Mixed Vegetables
1½ cups boiling water
2 beef bouillon cubes — Pomco of course!
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons flour
⅛ teaspoon thyme
½ cup milk
4 ounce can Pomco Button Mushrooms
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento

Add bouillon cubes to the boiling water. While they are dissolving, melt butter in a saucepan. Add flour and thyme and stir until blended. Add beef stock; stir thoroughly. Add the flaked tuna fish, the mixed vegetables. Stir and heat until mixture thickens. Add milk, mushrooms and pimiento. Serve over toast triangles.

A super-delicious molded treat that can be served as dessert or as a salad is CHERRY-ORANGE BAVARIAN.

2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
1 cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
2 egg yolks, beaten
⅓ cup fresh lemon juice
2 egg whites
1 cup cream for whipping
2 medium California oranges cut in chunks
1 can Pomco Sweet Dark Cherries

Mix gelatin, sugar and salt together in a saucepan; stir in beaten egg yolks and milk and stir over medium heat until mixture begins to thicken and bubbles around edge. Remove from heat. Stir in lemon juice; chill to unbeaten egg white consistency. Beat egg whites until fluffy but not dry; beat cream until stiff. Fold egg whites, cream, orange chunks and the cherries into gelatin mixture. Turn into a quart mold, a refrigerator tray or individual molds. Chill until firm.



If the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, as the fable says, then surely the best insurance for a successful marriage is a perfect cup of coffee . . . always. Nothing starts the day off in the right direction, or serves as a mid-day picker-upper like a fragrant cup of Pomco Coffee. Pomco chooses the finest coffees, blends them just so and roasts the coffee to a turn. Whatever coffee maker you use you'll find Pomco Coffee gives you perfect results time after time. Drip or regular grind . . . and instant Pomco Coffee too!

A can of Pomco Sliced Peaches, a box of your favorite white cake mix, some whipping cream and you have the makings of a "peach" of a dessert. The cake is baked in two layers and cooled. Turn one layer upside down; spread with sweetened whipped cream and drained canned Pomco Cling Peach Slices. Top with the other layer — this one right side up — and once more spread with whipped cream and the remainder of the peach slices.

Want to Take Test on Symptoms of Alcoholism?

(This is the third in a series of dispatches on alcoholism)

By LOUIS CASSELS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Alcoholism creeps up on you.

Medical history records a few cases in which people seemed to become alcoholics as soon as they started drinking. Their susceptibility was so great that addiction came virtually with their first drink.

But the overwhelming majority of alcoholics slip gradually into the stage of uncontrolled habituation, usually after years of what they regard as "social" or "moderate" drinking. They deny, even to themselves, that they are becoming alcoholics. And they buttress their denials with many popular misconceptions about the nature and symptoms of alcoholism.

The best hope of arresting the spread of alcoholism, authorities say, lies in persuading its potential victims to recognize the danger signals and to see competent help NOW.

Danger Signals Listed

And what are the danger signals?

"The first sign of abnormal drinking," says Dr. Paul H. Stevenson, alcoholism expert of the National Institute of Mental Health, "is apt to be a change in the person's drinking pattern."

Mrs. Marty Mann, a recovered alcoholic who is now executive director of the National Council on Alcoholism, listed several other "early symptoms" of alcoholism:

"Making promises about drinking."

Lying about the amount of frequency of drinking.

"Gulping" drinks.

Taking a drink BEFORE going to a party or appointment where drinks undoubtedly will be served.

Feeling the necessity to have drinks at certain regular times, and with any special event.

Feeling that you 'must" have drinks for weariness, nerves, depression or to maintain a "pleasant" disposition "for the sake of others."

There is, moreover, one test which you can use to determine whether your dependence on alcohol has reached the stage of an illness from which you require outside help to recover.

How To Tell

The test is this: Set yourself a daily ration of drinks, not less than one and not more than three If you're not a daily drinker (and some alcoholics confine their drinking to weekends) then the ration should be for those days on which you do customarily drink.

Decide that you will stick to this ration for a fixed period, at least three months, beginning now. You must not exceed the ration under any circumstances whatever — weddings, funerals, sudden death of a friend, inheritance or promotion. No "special occasions" or other excuses must be allowed, or you have flunked the test.

Any normal drinker, even one used to drinking regularly and fairly heavily, should be able to pass the test. But the chances are a hundred to one against a true alcoholic passing it—or even being willing to try it sincerely.

New Kensington Bus Fares Up

HARRISBURG (UP)—The New Kensington City Lines will increase school bus fares from six to eight cents per zone and drop a 13⅓ cent token in favor of a flat 15 cent charge July 17.

The Public Utility Commission granted the fare increases after studying the company's reasons for the requested hike. The firm said the changes would produce $2,600 more revenue annually to meet higher wages in the face of declining patronage.

Wigs began to become very popular in Europe when Louis XIII began to grow bald and turned to elaborate wigs which were imitated by his followers.

Boy Scouts At Camp Conestoga

Nearly 200 scouts and leaders enrolled at Camp Conestoga last Sunday afternoon for the first week of the 1957 season. Nearly 350 are expected to attend next week.

Camp Conestoga is operated by the Westmoreland-Fayette Boy Scout Council with W. L. Lewis as camp director, and is expected to be in operation until August 17. Nearly 2,500 boys are expected to attend during the eight week season.

The preparations that must be made for the opening of the 1,200 acre camp are many and varied. For that purpose, the members of the Order of the Arrow, an honorary service organization of scouts, explorers and scouters, were in camp last Friday and Saturday.

On Sunday the members of the camp staff moved in to complete the preparations needed to open camp.

Troops which are attending Camp Conestoga this week include Troop 1 Belle Vernon; Troop 1 Bovard; Troop 8 Greensburg; Post 8 Greensburg; Troop 1 Jones Mills; Troop 5 Latrobe; Troop 7 Latrobe; Troop 1 Madison; Troop 4 Mt. Pleasant; Troop 1 Newcomer; Troop 3 Scottdale; Troop 1 Shawtown; Troop 8 Uniontown; Troop 12 Uniontown.

The camp program features a wide range of wood crafts and scout craft activities which keep the boys engaged from the time they get up in the morning until they retire at night.

While in camp, every opportunity will be offered and encouragement given to every boy to meet the requirements necessary for advancement in rank, as they go up the ladder from Tenderfoot to Eagle.

A special camp-fire for scouts and parents is a regular Wednesday night feature. All interested persons are invited.

FBI Takes Fight as Crime Investigation Agency to Congress

WASHINGTON (UP) —The FBI has taken to Congress what it considers a fight for its life as an effective federal crime investigation agency.

The fight has been going on behind the scenes for three weeks. It came out in the open Monday with the submission to Congress of legislation designed to save the FBI from full application of a Supreme Court ruling.

The high court ruled June 3, in the case of Clifton E. Jencks, a New Mexico labor union official, that defendants in court cases must be given access to all FBI files related to testimony against them. The court gave a broad interpretation to the principle that a defendant has the right to confront his accuser

Decision Produces Confusion

The decision produced confusion in the nation's lower courts and, warnings that the FBI, the Narcotics Bureau and other investigative agencies would be crippled

Justice Tom Clark, in dissenting, said the FBI "may as well close up shop, for the court has opened their files to the criminal and thus afforded him a Roman holiday for rummaging through confidential information as well as vital national secrets"

The FBI has not had to close shop yet, but Director J. Edgar Hoover and his staff are worried If the Supreme Court edict stands and is interpreted broadly, they believe confidential informants will shy away from talking to the FBI for fear they will be quoted in court or called to testify.

If these sources of information dry up the G-men will be seriously handicapped in tracking down federal law violators.

Federal narcotics agents, who work under Treasury Department supervision, also are appealing for legislation action to maintain the cloak of secrecy about their work

May Affect Defense Department

The Defense Department may be affected, too. Some lawyers interpret the ruling to mean the department must open up secret files of its counter - intelligence corps and criminal investigation agencies in loyalty, security and common criminal cases tried by court martial

The Justice Department tried to get around the ruling by an administrative order interpreting it narrowly Attorney General Herbert R. Brownell Jr instructed U S attorneys to make available only pertinent excerpts of pretrial statements to the FBI by persons who had already appeared in court as government witnesses for the prosecution.

Several U S district judges have rejected this interpretation of the Jencks decision. Others went along with it or with modifications of it. New tests of its meaning are coming up nearly every day throughout the country

LAMB EN BROCHETTE

1½ pounds ½-inch-thick lamb steak (from the leg)
½ cup French dressing
2 bay leaves
1 sprig thyme
12 mushroom caps
3 tomatoes, cut in quarters

Have meat cut in 1-inch pieces. Place in bowl and cover with French dressing to which bay leaves and thyme have been added. Add 1 peeled clove of garlic if desired. Let meat stand 5 hours or longer. Preheat broiler 5 to 10 minutes. Remove meat from dressing. Dip mushroom caps and quartered tomatoes in dressing. Arrange alternate pieces of lamb, mushrooms and tomatoes on metal skewers. Place on broiler rack. Broil 3 inches from medium heat about 10 minutes, turning occasionally. Serve on hot platter with buttered rice and scalloped or stuffed eggplant. Yield: 6 servings.

Note: Small pieces of bacon may be arranged alternately on the skewers with other ingredients.

HOT DOGS, KABOBS, SPARERIBS, HAMBURGERS, CHICKEN — Almost every meat in one form or another can be used for barbecuing. Just be sure when it comes to marinate, brush or baste, you use a generous hand with the sauce.

YOUR FOOD PROBLEM

By Edith M. Barber

Many Foods Easily Adapt To Barbecue Cooking Now

You probably know what a barbecue is. But did you realize the original meaning of the word was "A raised framework for smoking, drying or broiling meat"? In the latest edition of Webster three or four times as many lines are now used for defining a barbecue as were used in a 20 year-old edition of this dictionary.

Edith Barber

In both the first sentence describes the barbecue as a method of cooking a hog or any other large animal in whole form." We are inclined today to use the term for any cut of meat broiled over an open fire and basted or served with a spicy sauce. We call our outdoor grill a barbecue, and many of these will be put to use on the Fourth or over the long weekend holiday that we hope will be offered us.

We may choose hamburgers, frankfurters, kabobs, chicken steak, or even a large roast for one or more of our festive meals. If it is not warm enough to have our meal outdoors — as we fully expect it will be — we may follow the system used at a house last week. Volunteers surprised the fire — the charcoal was ignited in its own plywood container — and in about 20 minutes it was ready for cooking. The steak was brought sizzling into the house where we devoured it in comfort.

The sauce was prepared in the kitchen and brought to the table in its saucepan of a material and shape that was appropriate for serving.

OLIVE BARBECUE SAUCE

1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
¼ cup chopped pimiento-stuffed green olives
¼ cup vinegar
1 teaspoon horseradish
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash of Tabasco
Salt and pepper to taste
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon grated onion

Combine all ingredients and mix well. Heat to serving temperature, stirring occasionally. Serve with grilled meats and poultry. Yield: About 1½ cups.

BARBECUE SAUCE

½ cup butter
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup chili sauce
1 cup vinegar
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 clove garlic, peeled
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 lemon slices
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
Dash of Tabasco

Mix all ingredients well and place over low heat until butter is melted. Steaks and small cuts of meat may be dipped in the sauce before cooking. Roasts should be brushed with the sauce before and at intervals during roasting. Yield: 2 cups.

Note: The butter may be replaced by salad oil. Serve with beef or pork.

CHOCOLATE SAUCE

2 squares chocolate
1 cup water
2 cups sugar
Dash of salt
2 tablespoons white corn syrup
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
2 tablespoons butter

Cut chocolate in pieces and stir over low heat with the water until smooth and thick. Add sugar, salt and corn syrup and stir until dissolved. Boil 3 minutes. Add vanilla extract and butter. Serve hot with ice cream. Yield: 12 servings.

Note: This sauce may be stored in a covered jar in the refrigerator and reheated.

Ice Cream Has Nutritive Value And Is Tasty

In celebrating Dairy Month one can pay a tribute to that all-American choice for dessert — ice cream. Perhaps because they still think of it as a treat, although not quite so much as years ago when it was not too easy to find good quality ready-made.

While various types of ice cream will differ considerably according to the proportion of milk and cream and the inclusion of eggs in the mix, as to the nutritive value a goodly amount will be supplied by a generous serving. Ice cream may be offered as a dessert for the children's meals with a clear conscience.

Sherbets that have a high milk content and that are usually fruit flavored may also be used. Lemon is the favorite flavor and makes a refreshing ending to a meal. Other fruits are used to a lesser extent.

Sauces Star Twice in Some Dinner Menus

There is no doubt about it — a fine sauce adds a gourmet touch to the meal. Of course people do not want every food masked with a sauce, but it is not too much to serve one with the appetizers and another with desserts.

This was the plan — and a most successful one — used at the final dinner meeting of the Home Economics in Business New York Group. The most popular of the appetizers was the rock lobster. Small pieces of the shellfish were impaled on toothpicks and dipped in a subtly seasoned dressing.

The main portion of the meal was excellent, with chicken Hawaiian style and potato croquettes, among other things. The generous portions of broiled chicken topped with sauteed pineapple was a very good choice. Peas were the vegetable selection. Nothing original about the latter except that they were well-cooked.

The dessert was slightly different from the usual. A sabayon sauce in a sherbet glass was accompanied by lady-fingers for dipping. There are a number of recipes for this sauce that may be flavored with wine or rum but which in this case, featured vanilla — real vanilla.

AFRIKAANS APPETIZER SAUCE

1 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon curry
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
½ teaspoon onion salt
1 teaspoon Angostura aromatic bitters
½ teaspoon paprika

Blend together all ingredients and serve with bite-size pieces of boiled South African rock lobster on toothpicks as an hors d'oeuvre or appetizer.

SABAYON SAUCE

Break 3 eggs into top of double boiler. Beat until foamy and stir in cup sugar. Continue stirring over hot water until sugar is dissolved. Remove top of boiler from water and beat until slightly thickened. Fold in ½ cup heavy cream whipped, and flavor with wine, rum or vanilla.

Another Nuclear Blast Postponed

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)— The Atomic Energy Commission Wednesday night was forced to postpone for 24 hours the sixth nuclear blast of the 1957 series because of "technical reasons."

The shot was rescheduled for 4:45 a.m. Friday. The sixth detonation was scheduled to equal 10,000 tons of TNT (10 kilotons) and be touched off atop a 500-foot steel tower.

'Author' Dupes Police Force

MIAMI (UP)—Red-faced Miami policemen, who had let an "author" ride with them on emergency calls so he could gather information for a new script, learned today they had been the ones taken for a ride.
The cops immediately put out an alarm for William J. Holliday, 28, the "writer" who had promised to make the lawmen famous in his Dragnet-like radio "script."
The police said they learned Holliday was wanted on at least six charges of check forging, involving hundreds of dollars.

Americans Eat too Much, Scientist Says

NEW YORK (UP)—Americans eat too much, according to a medical scientist who thinks it would be a fine thing for the country if their food intake could be limited by rationing.
"Some day it may be possible to have a national rationing program in which each individual is limited to so many calories per day," said Dr. Edward L. Bortz, associate professor of medicine, Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia.
Addressing a scientific symposium on aging, he said there would be less aging and hence more abundant health among people if they ate less, exercised more, and broke up their work with rests.
His point was that bodies don't age on a rigid schedule as their years of functioning increase in number. For instance, hardened arteries have been found in the bodies of babies.
Bodies age in accordance with an extremely complex pattern which is formed by whatever tendencies and bodily conditions a given body has inherited from its ancestors, plus whatever stresses and strains are placed upon it as its years of life pile up.
"My own opinion, reinforced by personal experience and by studies with patients and animals, is that the total caloric intake is of equal if not greater importance than the division of foodstuffs into carbohydrates, proteins, and fats provided the protein content is adequate for positive energy maintenance, he said.
If any individual is on just the correct amount of food needed for immediate energy, replacement of wear and tear, and a certain modest excess for reserve, and if he exercises moderately and holds his weight at optimum, then he is enjoying a healthy nutritional status.
"I do not believe the carefully calculated restriction of fats is of great importance provided the caloric value of the diet is not in excess. The catabolic reduction of the various foods down to the common metabolic pool creates a reservoir from which the body can re-synthesize whatever particular elements are needed for tissue repair."

Tenor Sick and Tired Of Singing 'Sorrento'

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—Listen, Ed Sullivan. This is a friendly bit of advice.

You know that tenor, Enzo Stuarti, you've got booked in for your July 7 TV show? Well, please don't ask him to sing "Come Back to Sorrento." He and that song have had it.

William Ewald

"I just know Sullivan is going to ask me to sing "Sorrento,'" said Stuarti with despair. "I can feel it. I've been on his show twice before and each time Sullivan has asked me to sing the kind of songs you have to belt. That Sullivan, he just loves to hear tenors who belt.

"Now, when anybody hears my name, they say, ah, he's the one who belts. An Italian troubadour. And right away, they ask for 'Sorrento.' I've been singing 'Sorrento' for a year straight now. All I want is a chance to sing something different."

Stuarti, born in Rome 32 years ago, came to this country in 1938. He has appeared in 13 Broadway shows and a barrelful of night clubs. He landed on the CBS-TV Sullivan show in January, 1956, after Sullivan heard a Stuarti record of "Addio Bimba."

"He had me sing it on that first show," recalled Stuarti. "It's a big song and after I finished, the studio audience got up and yelled bravo and I fell into a stagehands' arms. Afterwards, Sullivan said to me—'I hear you have a mortgage on your house, Enzo, and I'm going to help you pay it.' And he signed me up for two more appearances.

"Well, I just love doing that show, but to tell the truth, Sullivan makes me nervous. He makes me feel I have to keep topping myself and he even stands behind the camera during the show to make me sing louder.

"I could barely keep my mind on the song last time. 'Come on, Enzo, hit it hard,' he kept saying. 'come on, Enzo give me that last note.' I could barely stand to look at the camera."

Enzo got nine months of booking out of his second appearance. "But everybody had the wrong idea about me. They thought all I could sing was loud. And they all kept asking for 'Sorrento.'

"I did three TV shows in Canada and you know what they wanted? Sorrento. Can you imagine in Winnipeg — Sorrento? I did a local TV show in Erie Pa., and the sponsor asked for Sorrento. I was on the 'Tonight' TV show and I gave them a choice of five songs. You know what they picked? Sorrento.

"I went on the Martin Block disk jockey show to plug my new album. Twelve songs on the record and he asked me if I would sing Sorrento.

"So I tell you, I got this terrible feeling inside — that Sullivan's going to ask for Sorrento, too. But I'm going to take a firm stand with him. I really want to do something different—a ballad, a rhythm number. Anything. Listen, the way I feel right now, I'd even sing him a cowboy tune. But not Sorrento."

Truman to Host TV Program at Sunday Noon

Former President Harry S. Truman will be host and guide on "Let's Take A Trip," on Sunday, from 12 noon to 12:30 p. m. over the CBS-TV network when he takes the program's juvenile co-stars, Jimmy Walsh and Joan Terrace, and their adult traveling companion, Sonny Fox on a guided tour of the Truman Library in Independence, Mo.

The nation-wide television program from the library will be, in effect, an exclusive preview in that the library will not be open to the public until one week later; on July 6, it will be dedicated and turned over to the federal government as a branch of the National Archives.

On the "Let's Take A Trip" telecast, Mr. Truman will explain the importance of the office of President of the United States, and how the Truman Library, which will contain all of his official papers, will serve as a valuable reference storehouse for scholars and historians.

Your Health—

Some Alcoholics Cases Can Undergo Surgery

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Sometimes it's risky to operate on an alcoholic.

The possibility that a confirmed alcoholic will develop delirium tremens when taken to a hospital for an emergency operation is a constant hazard.

Then, too, prolonged alcoholism generally results in serious nutritional deficiencies. Liver damage is frequently present.

If there is time, the hospital may be able to correct such nutritional defects and thus lessen the operative risk.

Even in non-emergency cases an alcoholic's emotional reaction to an operation must be carefully considered by the surgeon. It probably won't be the same as that of a patient not accustomed to excess drinking.

The patient's personality can also influence the outcome of the operation, as can his social circumstances.

There's another thing the surgeon must consider — anesthesia. Depending upon the physical condition of the alcoholic, the type and method of applying the anesthetic varies.

If all these problems can be resolved and all the necessary precautions can be taken, then the alcoholic probably presents no undue risk for surgery.

But when time is important, as it very often is, alcoholism is a definite hazard insofar as an operation is concerned.

It's just one more argument against excessive drinking.

Steel Firm Options Coal Land In Nearby Washington County

A New York steel firm has obtained an option of 5,700 acres of Pennsylvania Railroad coal land in Washington County, the railroad announced yesterday.

The option was granted to Barium Steel Corp. which has Pennsylvania plants at Harrisburg, Phoenixville and Chester, and is studying the construction of another plant on the Delaware River in Burlington County, N. J.

Barium secured a five-year option on a 15-year lease from a PRR subsidiary.

It is believed the coal land considered by Barium Steel is located near Washington. Pennsylvania Railroad holds some 400,000 acres of unexplored coal holdings in the tri-state district, including vast acreage in Washington and Greene counties.

Under terms of the lease, if the option is taken up, the steel company would have to begin mining coal within 18 months of the date of leasing and pay the railroad royalties of 20 cents a ton, or three per cent of realization, whichever is greater.

Very little is now known about the quality of the undeveloped coal in southwestern Washington County and western Greene County.

Barium Steel plans a mine capable of producing at least 500,000 tons of coal a year "provided explorations on the land under option determine that the quality of the coal is good and there is enough of it in the ground."

Barium's proposed plant in New Jersey would be built on 500 acres of land leased from the Manor Real Estate Company, a PRR subsidiary. It has an option to buy an 360 adjacent acres.

A real estate firm also is reported to be the firm buying up coal tracts in the district in recent months.

Farms in the vicinity of West Union, on the Washington-Greene County line, were purchased by Charles Hackney, of Amity, said to be an agent of the real estate firm.

The land, aggregating some 600 to 800 acres, lies about a mile from the right of way of the Waynesburg & Washington narrow gauge railway, which is owned by Pennsylvania Railroad.

Army Plans to Cut Reserve Officers

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Army announced it will cut 22,000 reserve officers off its payroll and transfer them to a non-pay drill status on July 1.

Money originally budgeted to pay the reserve officers for attending drill classes will be used to recruit more enlistees in the reserve troop unit program, particularly in the six-month training program.

Leader to Veto Annexation Bill

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today pledged to veto legislation banning annexation of second class township property by other municipalities without the consent of the township electorate.

In a telegram to the Pennsylvania State Association of Boroughs, meeting in Philadelphia, Leader said the legislation must be rejected "if we are to deal effectively with the problems of community growth and development."

"I shall therefore veto this bill upon my return to Harrisburg," the governor said. He is attending the Governors' Conference at Williamsburg, Va.
